In India, the growth rates of dependent children below 15 years are on decline, whereas the growth rates of 65+ population are on increase. What does this signify? Give a rational thought on the need for a paradigm shift in the Government policy perspectives to face this challenge in the coming decades. (250 Words)

Declining growth rates of dependent children below 15 years and increasing growth rates of 65+ population signifies the demographic change with greater proportion of dependent population coming from elderly. The dependency ratio is skewed towards elderly. As per UN, in India,

- By 2050, there will be more people older than 60 years than below 15 years;
- Share of senior citizens is projected to increase from 8% to 20% by 2050.

NEED FOR SHIFT IN POLICY PERSPECTIVE

PRESENT GOVERNMENT PROGRAMMES

- Madrid international plan of action on ageing provides roadmap for addressing challenges.
- National policy on senior citizens for
 - ✓ Financial and food security
 - ✓ Shelter and health care
 - ✓ Protection against exploitation
- National Council of senior citizens as advisory body for policy making on elderly issues
- National old age pension scheme
 - ✓ Income security
- Subsidized food distribution program
 - ✓ Nutrition security to poor older persons

NECESSARY CHANGE IN POLICY PERSPECTIVE

- Greater focus on higher and quality geriatric services
- State specific policies based on available demographic window
- Safety and security measures using technology to prevent crime on elderly
- Shift from passive citizens to active citizens to utilize their experience in nation building
- Senior citizen friendly public spaces and government institutions

THE WAY AHEAD

Fulfilling needs for services and social protection for senior citizens, protection of their rights and enabling them to contribute to the development process should be the priority.

“Unpaid domestic work, unequal pay, nuclear families, safety and unfavorable working conditions are inhibiting the women’s participation in the workforce”.
Support the statement with further illustration. (250 Words)

As per ILO, Female Labour Force Participation Rate (LFPR) in India fell from 31.2% in 2011-2012 to 23.3% in 2017-2018. The underlying “gender bias” in unpaid care work is a critical factor contributing to gender inequality. 21.7% of women of working age are engaged full time in care giving without pay. Only 1.5% of men fall in this category.

REASONS INHIBITING THE WOMEN'S PARTICIPATION IN THE WORKFORCE

Lack of access to safe and secure workspaces.

Due to the cultural reasons, there is low social acceptability of women working outside the household in certain types of jobs.

With nuclear families, women are forced to leave the jobs to take care of children as the combined families came down drastically in recent times.

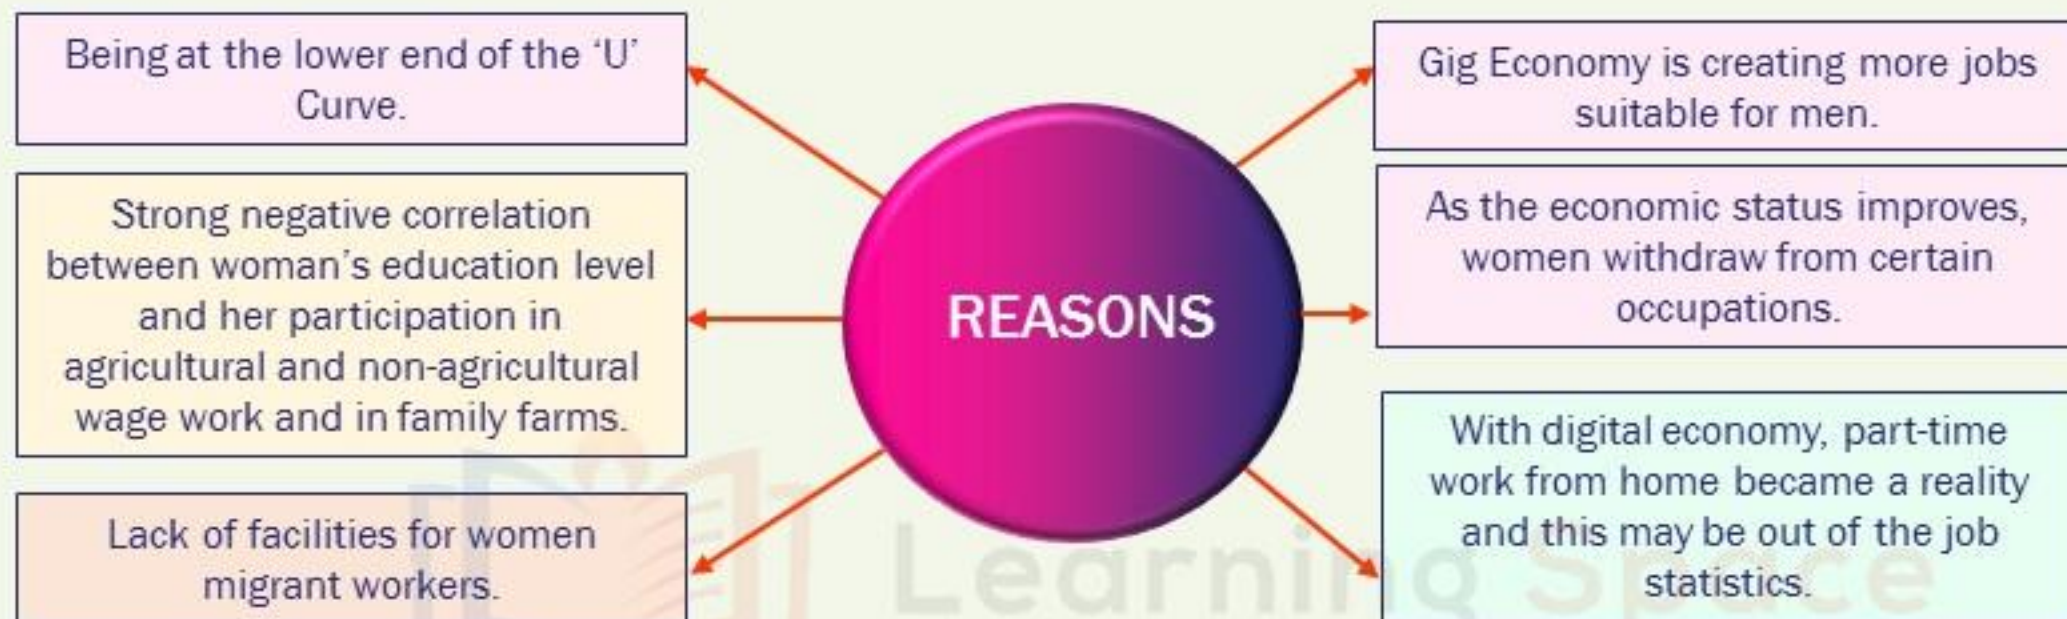

Widespread prevalence of poor and unequal wages i.e., lack of gender parity.

Lack of decent and suitable jobs in sufficient numbers.

Part-time family care and part-time in informal jobs might not be reflecting in the job-related statistics.

REASONS

THE WAY FORWARD

Policy makers should correctly assess and address the structural issues like gender responsive public services, migration facilities and crisis centres, safe work spaces etc. Strict implementation of policies like one stop centres and Nirbhaya funds is needed.

Discuss salient features of Transgender Persons (Protection of Rights) Act, 2019.
Why are the transgender bodies not happy with the Act? (250 Words)

Transgender persons (Protection of Rights) bill, 2019 provides for social, economic and educational empowerment of transgender by defining their identity and rights to prohibit discrimination against them. It aims to mainstream an estimated 2 million transgender individuals across the country. However, there are fears of bill leading to discrimination than protection.

SALIENT FEATURES OF THE BILL

- Defines transgender – for the first time.
- Right to self-perceived gender identity -
 - ✓ Transgender has to apply to district magistrate for certificate of identity which acts as proof.
 - ✓ The gender of the person as reflected in the certificate to be recorded in all official documents.

- Prohibits discrimination, denial, discontinuation or unfair treatment in educational institutions, services, employment etc. against transgender.
 - ✓ Abuse and discrimination are penalized with minimum imprisonment of 6 months, extendable up to 2 years along with fine.
- Every establishment (more than 100 employees) has to appoint a complaints officer to deal with complaints related to violation of provisions.
- Right to residence in their house
 - ✓ If family is unable to take care, he/she may be placed in a rehabilitation center.
- Center to setup National Council for Transgender Persons (NCTP) under Ministry of Social Justice.
 - ✓ Includes 5 members from transgender community and 5 experts from NGO along with NITI Aayog and NHRC representatives.
- Provisions for separate HIV surveillance centers and sex reassignment surgeries to be provided by government.
- Appropriate government to formulate transgender sensitive, non-stigmatizing, non-discriminatory welfare schemes.

CONCERNS OF TRANSGENDER

CONCLUSION

The Bill has potential to create inclusiveness in transgender community and make them productive members of the society. Few apprehensions of community to be addressed through an all-inclusive active multi-stakeholder deliberations. Also, delegating quasi-judicial powers to NCTP can ensure better and effective enforcement of rights of transgender.

Examine how the role of Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs) is different from that of the elected representatives in protecting the interests of the people in a democracy. Do you justify foreign funding to NGOs? Discuss its pros and cons. (250 Words)

- Non-Governmental Organisations (NGOs) and elected representatives are media through which public views and interests are channels to Government.
- Both carry representation, facilitate political participation and contribute to policy process.

ROLE IN PROTECTING INTERESTS OF PEOPLE

SUBJECT	NGO	ELECTED REPRESENTATIVE
1. Range	Confined to select group of people	Engage in mass mobilization of people in constituency
2. Goals	Specifically related select group interests Eg: Tribal rights, Environmental rights	- Provide welfare services of all sorts - Discharge promises in manifesto
3. Means	Exert external influence on Government through petitions, lobby and judicial activism	Embrace power to discharge the duties
4. Accountability	Not accountable for Government programmes to people	Officially accountable to people for Government policies and programmes
5. Tenure	Relatively smaller and often till the goals are achieved	Almost permanent as they get elected every 5 years and new goals arise

Foreign Contribution (Regulation) Act, 2010 regulates receipt and usage of foreign contribution by NGOs in India.

NEED OF FOREIGN FUNDING TO NGOs

- Funds required for daily functioning
- Domestic funds available for its operations are not enough
- Helps Government in empowering people by making them aware of their rights
- Research and investigation enable Government in better policy making
- Supports Government in delivering good governance by flagging misdoings.

MISUSE OF FOREIGN FUNDING

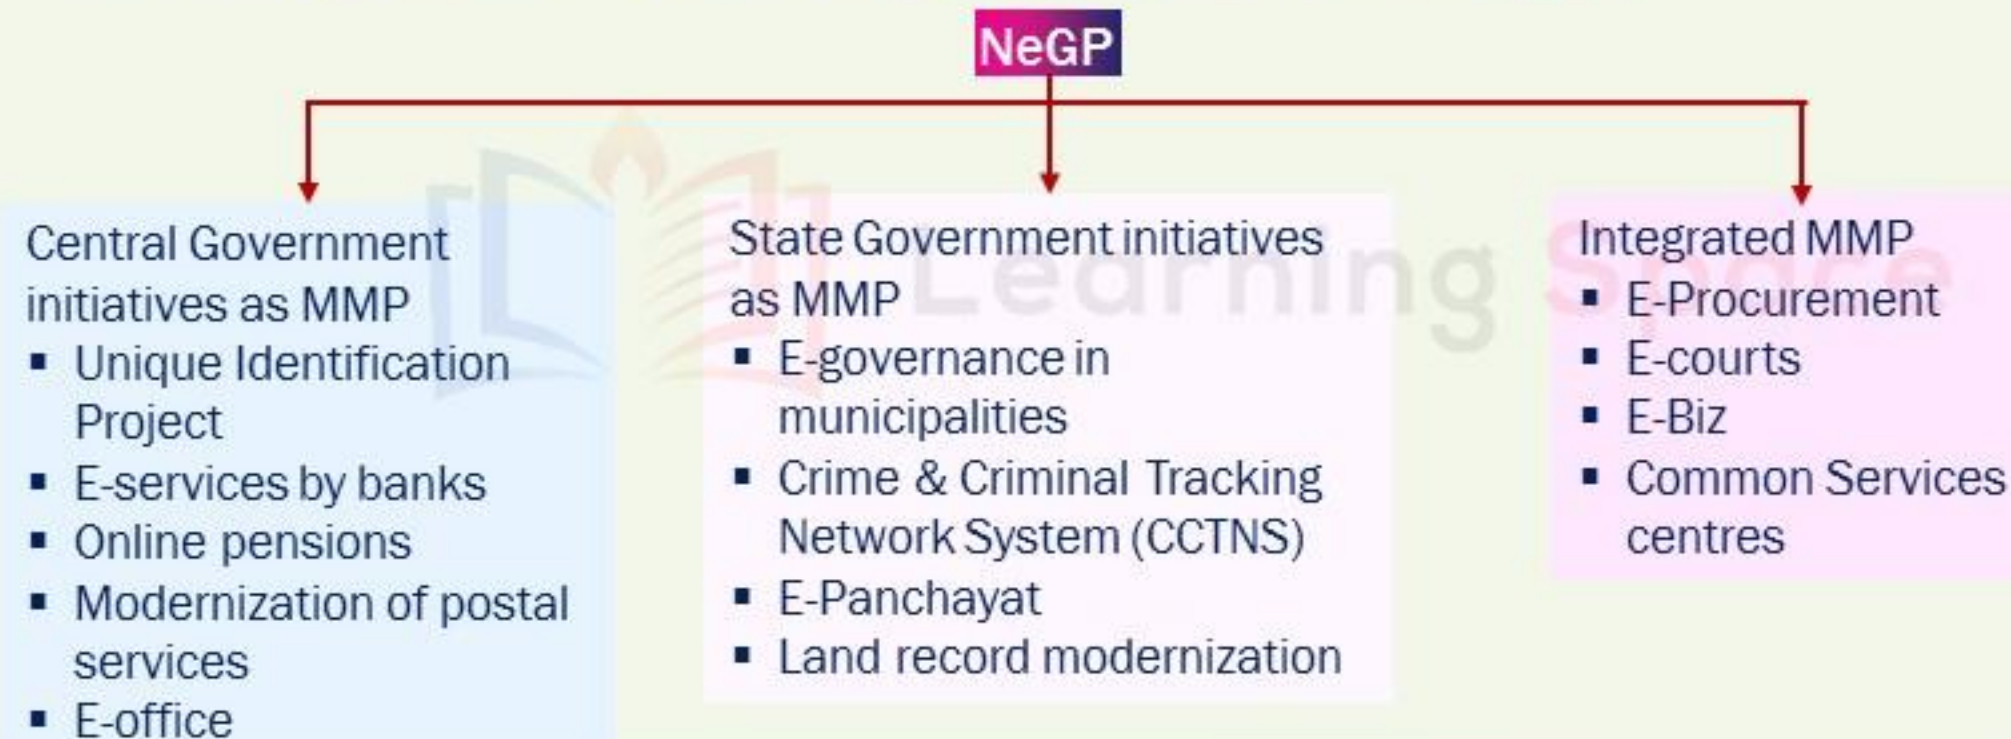

THE WAY AHEAD

Government should regulate foreign funding to ensure progressive functioning of NGOs. State should also take into account the issues raised by NGOs in policy making rather than curbing than for dissent.

The primary aim of the National e-Governance Plan (NeGP) is to make all Government services accessible to the common man in his locality. How far is this aim achieved? Critically examine various bottlenecks. (250 Words)

- National e-Governance Plan (NeGP) is a Government initiative to make all Government services available to citizens of India via electronic media.
- Leveraging the advantage of cooperative federalism, the initiative is realizing pillar 5 of Digital India under e-Kranti which implements 44 Mission Mode Projects (MMPs).

RECENT INITIATIVES

- Aadhaar enabled payment system
- Digi locker, my gov.in
- Direct cash transfer

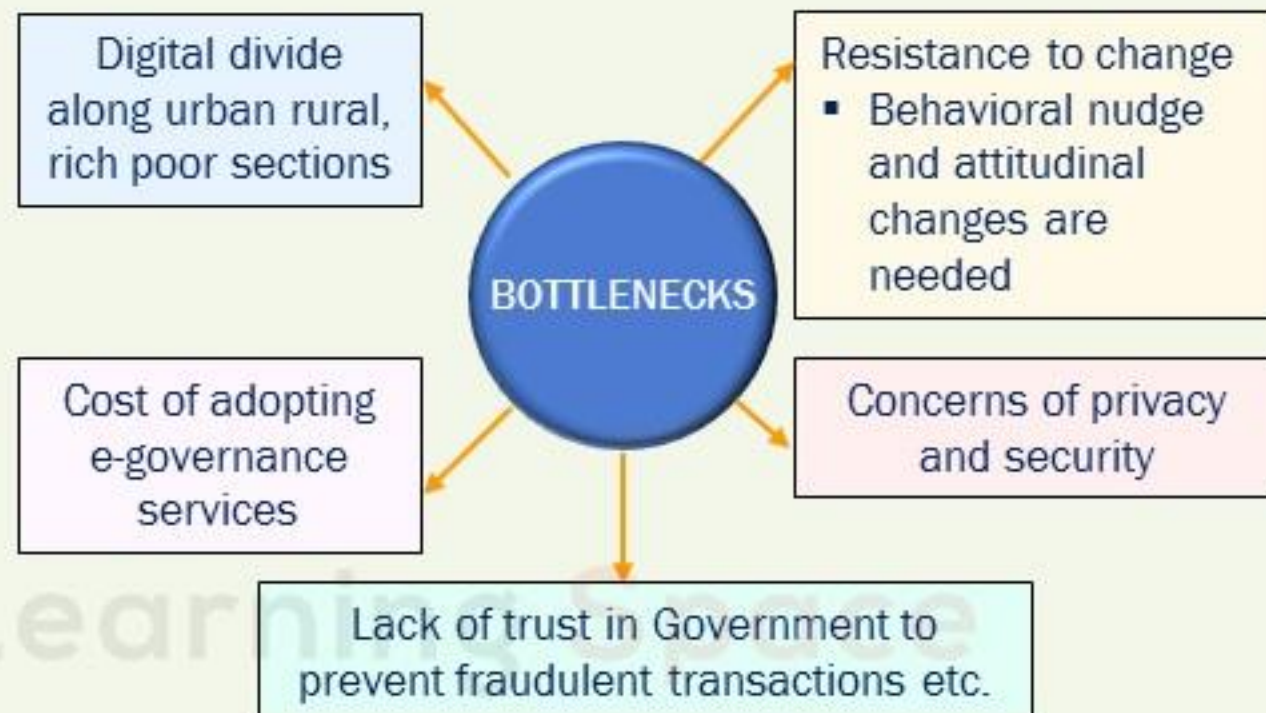

ASSESSMENT OF SUCCESS

- Made shift towards faster and electronic delivery of services in issues like financial inclusion. But, e-courts, land record modernization etc. not yet realized.
- Enabled participatory governance, but marginalized and rural sections are still excluded.
- Wide regional disparities in delivery of services due to lack of competitive federalism in governance.

FINALLY

Adopting e-Governance should be preceded by bridging digital divide and digital empowerment of marginalized section. PM Gramin Digital Saksharta Abhiyan is right step in this direction.

BOTTLENECKS FOR e-GOVERNANCE

Too many policies and programmes with “implementation deficit” leads to “policy casualness”. Elaborate the statement with recent examples. (150 Words)

Implementation deficit in public policy is inability to and lack of emphasis on implementation phase of policy realisation. Too many policies without the preparedness to implement results in policy casualness.

RECENT EXAMPLES

1. MAKE IN INDIA

- Share of manufacturing in GDP is stagnating at 16% than achieving 25% by 2025.
- Growth rate of manufacturing is less than 3% than the target of 12-14%.
- Jobless growth prevails against target of 100 mn new jobs by 2022.

2. UDAY

- Aggregate, technical and commercial looser are at 21% than the target of 15% by 2019.
- Operational efficiencies are still poor.

REASONS FOR IMPLEMENTATION DEFICIT

THE WAY FORWARD

Adopting lean governance practices that enhance efficiency in policy formulation and implementation is needed. Inclusive and participatory implementation is the key.

What do you understand by “Strategic Partnership Model” in the defence sector?
Examine how this model envisions to make India a manufacturing powerhouse in the defence sector. (150 Words)

Under strategic partnership, one private company would be selected in each of 4 identified segments. They would tie-up with shortlisted global equipment manufacturers to manufacture the platforms in India under technology transfer.

CRITERIA OF SELECTING GLOBAL EQUIPMENT MANUFACTURER

- Competitive process of selection
- Compatibility of their products with Services Staff Qualitative Requirements (SQRs)
- Commitment to provide technology and other assistance to enable their Indian partners to produce in India with maximum indigenization

ADVANTAGES OF STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP

CONCERNS IN ADOPTING SP MODEL

- Lack of institutional capacity and ability to guide new process to its logical conclusion.
- Long term viability of SPs against privileged position of PSEs.
- Fair play between PSEs and SPs.
- Removal of offset clause in recent Rafale deal.

CONCLUSION

Strategic Partnership can be a means to make India global hub of defence manufacturing but by only faster and visible adoption of the policy. Deviation from SP model in any defence deal has to be controlled.

Discuss various initiatives taken by the Central Government in recent times towards “modernization of the police forces”. With these measures, can the police forces become citizen-centric? Argue with valid reasons. (250 Words)

With emergence of technology driven new forms of crime, there is a need for technological driven new forms of crime, there is a need for technological and equipment upgradation of Police forces. Police reforms has been long drawn demand since Supreme Court directions in Prakash Singh Case.

RECENT INITIATIVES TO MODERNISE POLICE FORCES

- Umbrella scheme of modernization of Police force for years 2018 to 2020 with outlay of 25060 crores
- Central budget outlay of 10,000 crores for internal security related expenditure for J&K, North eastern states and Left-Wing Extremism (LWE)
- Scheme of special central assistance for 35 worst LWE affected districts
- 1200 crores for infrastructure upgradation setting up of training institutes and investigation facilities in North eastern states
- Integration of police stations under CCTNS project
- New initiatives to assist state in upgradation of police infrastructure, forensic science laboratories, institutions and equipment to plug critical gaps
- Special provisions under umbrella scheme for law and order, women security, availability of modern weapons, mobility of police forces and logistics

DO THESE INITIATIVES ENABLE CITIZEN CENTRIC POLICE?

- Citizen Centric Police needs close engagement with civil society.
- These initiatives enable -
 - ✓ Faster investigation and prosecution
 - ✓ Better internal security surveillance
 - ✓ Decimate terror threat and insurgencies
 - ✓ Greater public security, especially women and children
 - ✓ Use of mobile and e-technology in policing can result citizen friendly policing and citizen centric policing

MEASURES TOWARDS PEOPLE'S POLICE

FINALLY

Hybrid of community policing and enforcement of existing initiatives enables new age policing and governance. Expediting long drawn police reforms in field is need of the hour.

What is cyberterrorism? Analyze the institutional framework to control cyberterrorism in India. Do you feel the existing framework sufficient? Suggest additional policy imperatives in this context. (150 Words)

Cyber terrorism is the use of internet to conduct violent acts that result in or threaten loss of life, bodily harm in order to achieve political or ideological gains through threat or intimidation.

EXISTING INSTITUTIONAL FRAMEWORK TO PREVENT CYBERTERRORISM

Section 69 of Information Act, 2008 is the primary law dealing with cyberterrorism

FRAMEWORK

- NODAL AGENCY:
 - ✓ National Security Council Secretariat
- NATIONAL TECHNICAL RESEARCH ORGANISATION (NTRO):
 - ✓ Protect national critical infrastructure
 - ✓ Handle all cyber security incidents in critical sectors of the country
- INDIAN COMPUTER EMERGENCY RESPONSE TEAM (CERT)
 - ✓ Responsible for incident responses including analysis, forecasts and alerts on cyber security issues and breaches.
- MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS
 - ✓ Issues advisories to states and UTs to prevent cyber terrorism and other crimes
 - ✓ Implements Cybercrime prevention against women and children

CONCERNS WITH EXISTING FRAMEWORK

- No autonomous body to deal with cyber security issues
- Absence of joint working group on cyber security
- Poor convergence of various cyber security management agencies
- Increasing attacks like Ransomware on India's administrative infrastructure
- Cyber Security Policy, 2013 needs updation

THE WAY AHEAD

India's efforts to make it to top 10 from present 23rd rank in UN global cyber security index is welcome. An independent comprehensive cyber security policy based on convergence mechanism is imperative.

Discuss the aspects of governance in light of Kautilya's Arthashastra. (250 Words)

The discourse of governance is incomplete without reference to Kautilya's Arthashastra. Important issues discussed in Kautilya involve the following:

- Absence of government rises disorder as in the Matsya nyayamud bhavayati (Proverb on law of fishes). In the absence of governance, the strong will swallow the weak. In the presence of governance, the weak resist the strong.
- According to Kautilya, a state comprises seven elements which are called Sapthanga.

1. SWAMI (RULER)

- A king's single most objective should be welfare of his subjects. In the welfare and happiness of his subjects lie his own happiness.
- A king should be
 - ✓ just and garner the loyalty of his subjects;
 - ✓ well learned, brave and virtuous;
 - ✓ abstaining from such vices as lust, anger, conceit, foolhardiness, arrogance and avarice;
 - ✓ trained in economics, politics, philosophy and Vedas.

2. AMATYA (MINISTER)

- Amatya refers to the Council of Ministers. This is the executive wing of a state.
- It has principally two tasks:
 - ✓ To tender advise to the king; and
 - ✓ To execute the instructions of the king

3. JANAPADA

- Janapada refers to the territory and population.
- Territory should be abundant with forests, mountains, rivers, wildlife and minerals.
- Population should be loyal, hardworking, disciplined, ready to pay taxes without fail.

4. DURGAM (FORT)

- Fort should be built keeping the security aspect in mind.
- Fort should be situated at a place which cannot be easily invaded by enemy.

5. KOSHA

- Kosha implies treasury.
- Treasury is the wheels on which the chariot of state runs.
- Treasury should be augmented with taxation and plundering enemy states.
- Depletion of treasury implies lack of funds for paying salaries, maintenance of army and building infrastructure.

6. DANDA (MILITARY)

- Well-motivated army is the greatest asset to a king.
- Soldiers should be paid well and their families must be very well taken care of.

7. MITRA

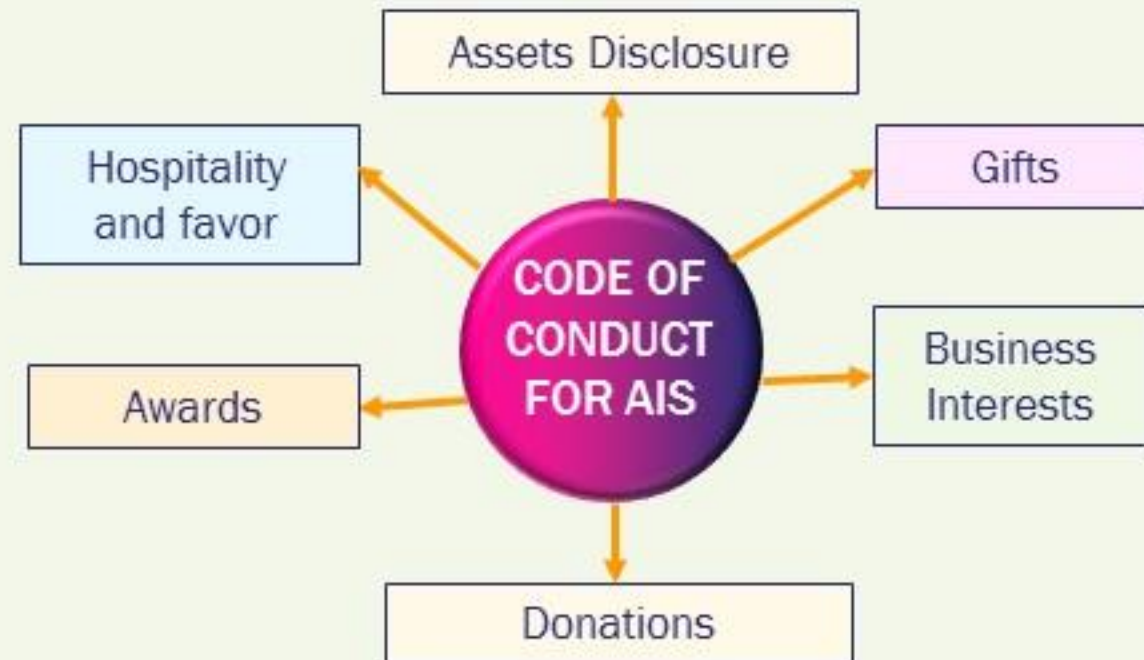

- Mitra is the neighboring king.
- He should be treated well by the king.
- He should be helped in times of emergency.
- Then, the king can enlist his support at the time of calamity.

CONCLUSION

Thus, Kautilya deliberated on inclusive and good governance in Arthashastra. In the present changing geo-political equations, his philosophy is highly relevant in establishing better foreign relations.

Elaborate on the Code of Conduct for All India Services. (150 Words)

Code of Conduct for All India Service (AIS) Officers is codified in AIS (conduct) Rules, 1969. Summary of the rules may be given as below:

▪ AN AIS OFFICER SHALL

- ✓ Ensure highest standards of integrity and devotion to duty.
- ✓ Participate in a public media only after clarifying that the views expressed are his/her own, but not of government.
- ✓ Accept gifts only from friends or relatives who do not have any official dealing.

▪ AN AIS OFFICER SHALL NOT

- ✓ Use his/her official position to obtain employment to his/her family with any private undertaking or NGO.
- ✓ Take part in politics or associate with political party.
- ✓ Criticize the actions of government.
- ✓ Give evidence before any committee or person without previous sanction of the government.
- ✓ Ask for or pay contribution from or to anyone without previous sanction of the government.
- ✓ Accept lavish hospitality from persons having official dealing with the government.
- ✓ Give or take dowry.
- ✓ Speculate in stock market.

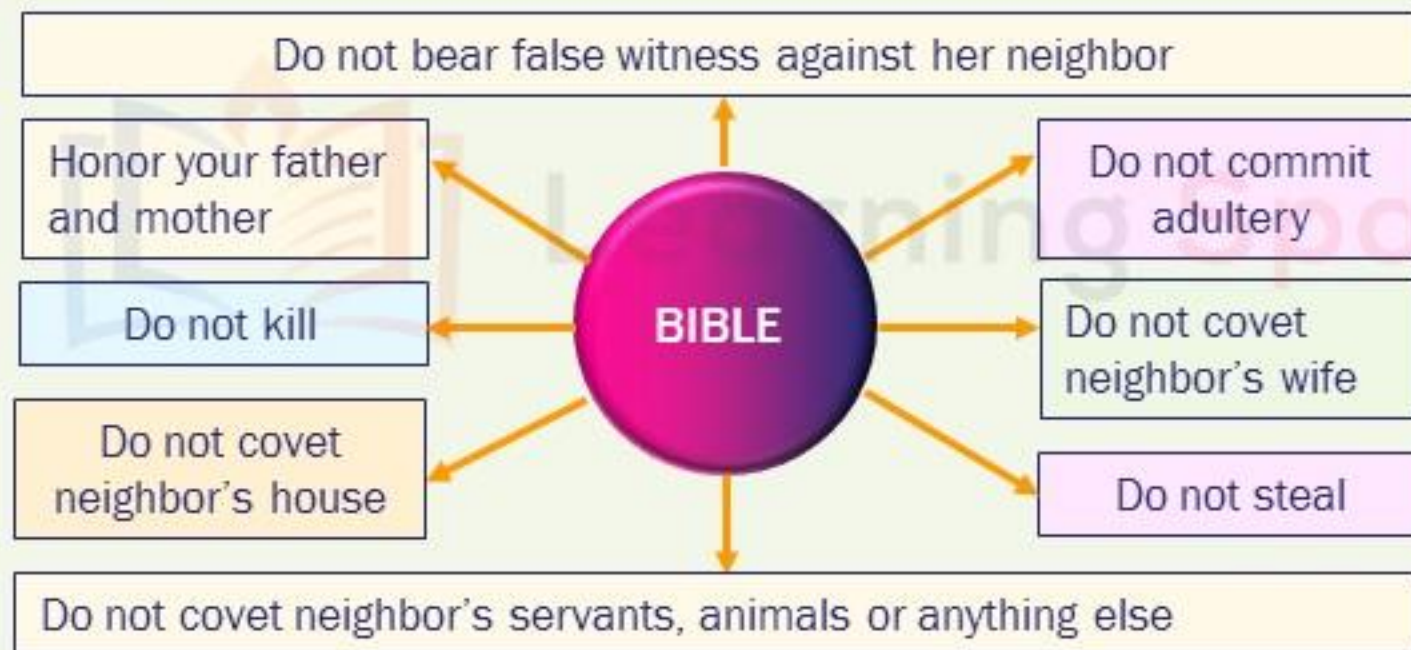

CONCLUSION

Abiding to code of conduct as well as practicing civil services values are necessary to ensure transparent delivery of goods and services to the citizens. This calls for strong value system among the civil servants.

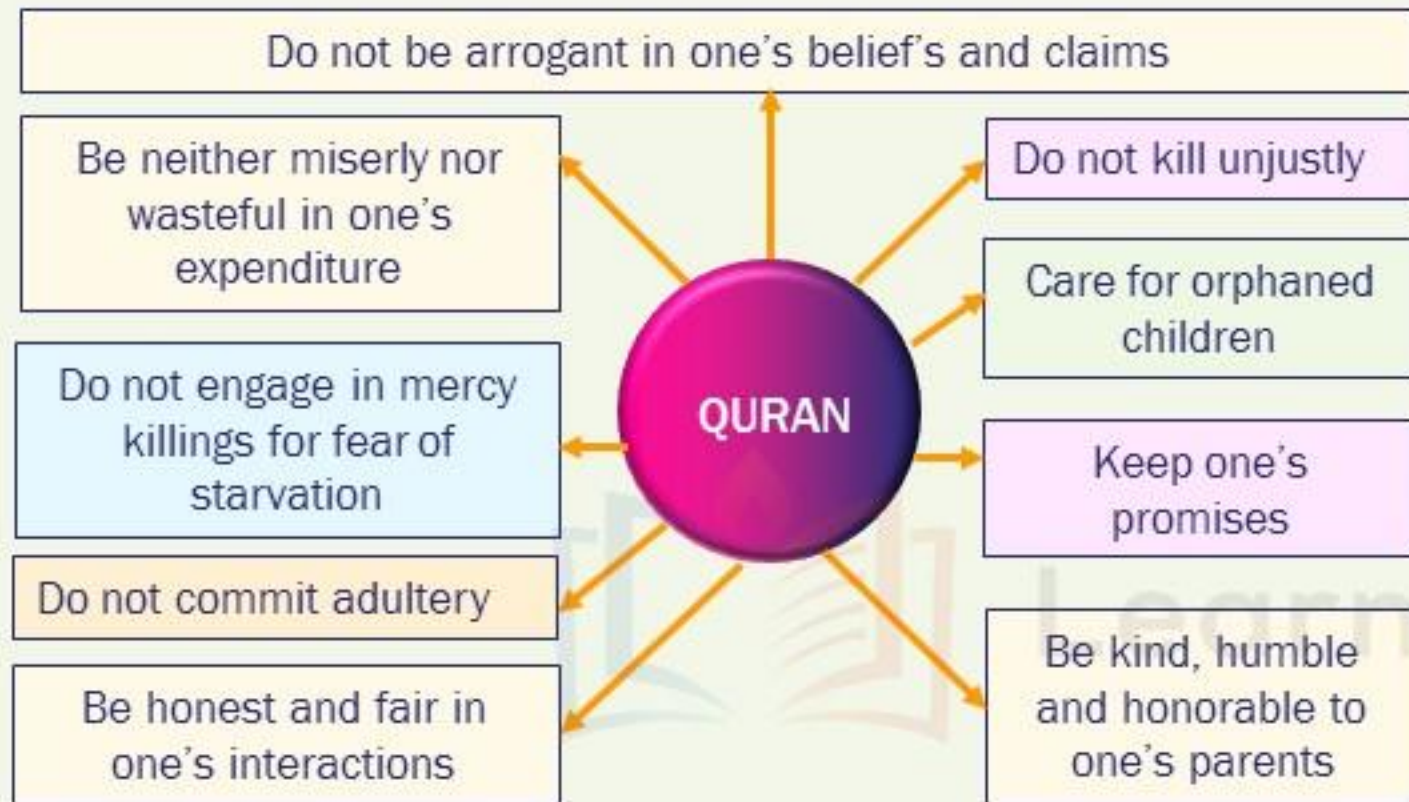

Explain the way religions contributed to code of ethics in ancient times. (250 Words)

Religions always played a role of social conditioning since ancient times. The authority of the religious scriptures included certain code of ethics as part of the community's lifestyle. They include:

Ten Commandments are a set of biblical principles. A few such commandments directly relate to ethics. Hence, it can also be treated as Code of Ethics.

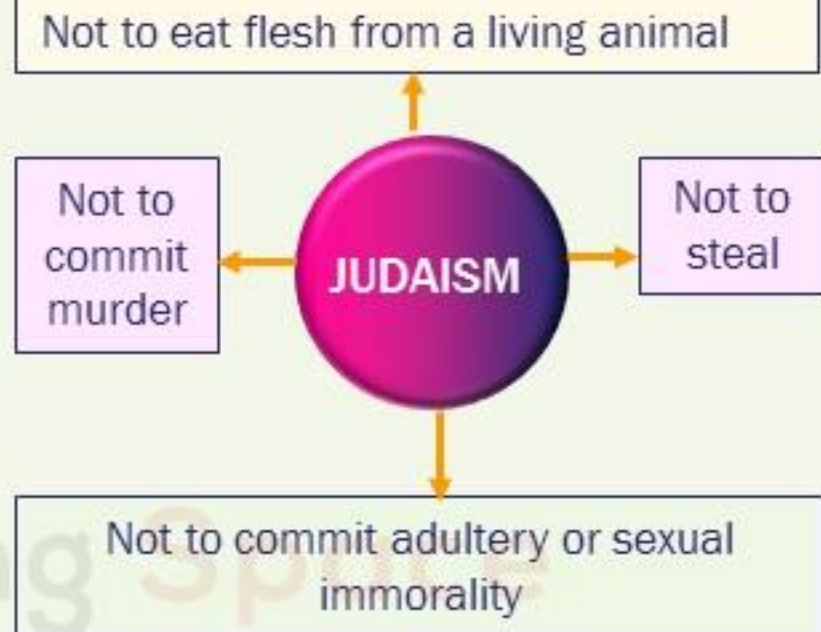

Quran also lays down a set of moral stipulations. These moral stipulations can also be treated as Code of Ethics:

CONCLUSION

Thus, all religions ensured the practice of universal values in people's lifestyle across civilizations. Deviating from these values often attracted sanctions while strict adherence to these values is considered as being holy. This authority of religion exists even in present times.

In Judaism, there are Seven Laws of Noah. Four of them constitute Code of Ethics:
