COLONIZATION OF ASIA, AFRICA
AND AMERICAS -2

THE COLONIZATION OF AFRICA

WEST AND CENTRAL AFRICA

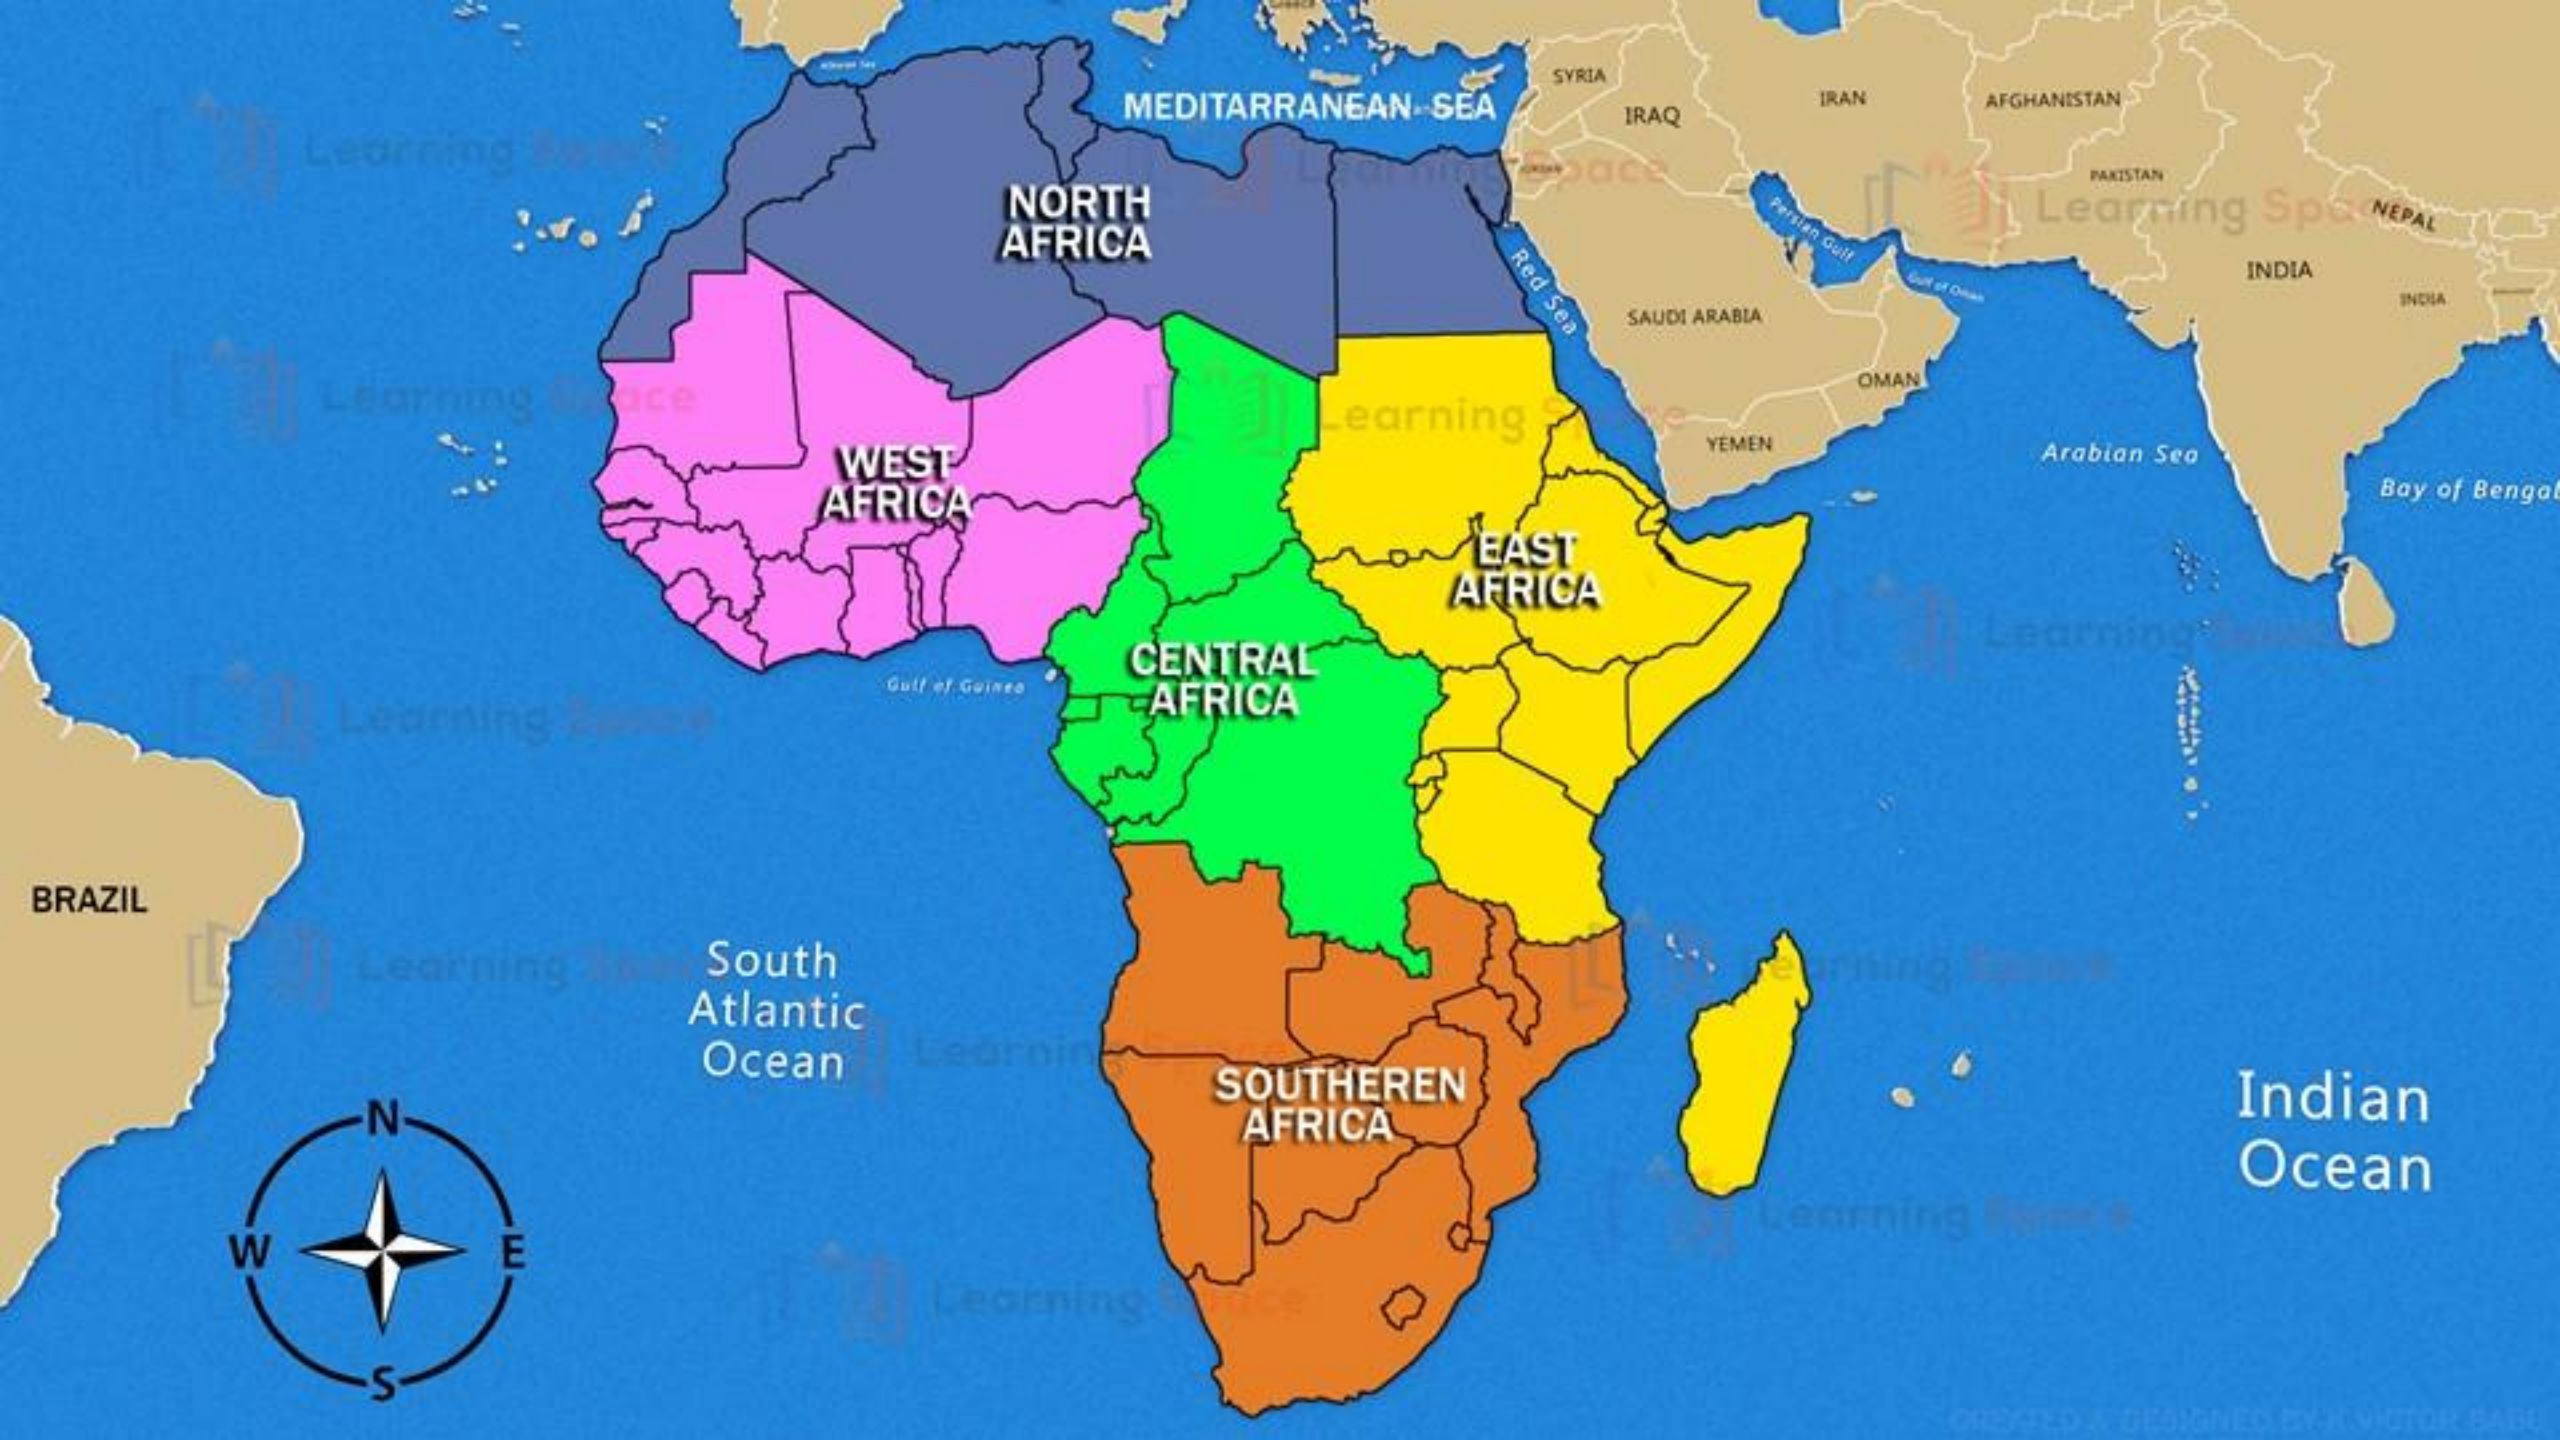

- During the 19th-20th centuries, the African continent was colonized mainly by European powers like Britain, France, Spain, Portugal, and Russia.

1 FRENCH CONGO

- French explorer Sir HM Stanley is gathering land for King Leopold in Congo
- Another French explorer, Pierre de Brazza, makes African chiefs sign over their land to France.
- This area named French Congo, and its capital town "Brazzaville" was named after him

- Now France set out to extend her empire in West Africa.

WEST AND CENTRAL AFRICA

1 FRENCH CONGO

5 Soon she obtains Dahomey (present day Benin), the Ivory Coast and French Guinea.

6 By the year 1900, the French empire extended further into the interior: including present Senegal, French Guinea, the Ivory Coast, Dahomey, Mauritania, French Sudan, Upper Volta and Niger Territory.

7 Just like King Leopold's regime over Congo, this French conquest also results in brutal exploitation of the people everywhere in Africa.

8 For example, in a period of only 20 years, the population of the French Congo was reduced to one-third of its former size.

WEST AND CENTRAL AFRICA

2 NIGERIA

- 1 A British company took the initiative in the conquest of Nigeria (for slave trade)
- 2 After a few years the British government declared Nigeria a protectorate of Britain.
- 3 In West Africa, Britain also occupied Gambia, Ashanti, Gold Coast and Sierra Leone.

3 LIBERIA

- 1 Except Liberia, the Whole West Africa was divided up among the Europeans.
- 2 Liberia was settled by slaves who had been freed in America.
- 3 Though she remained independent, she came increasingly under the influence of the United States, particularly the American investors in rubber plantations.

SOUTHERN AFRICA

1 RHODESIA

1 Cecil Rhodes was a British adventurer. He made truckload of cash through in gold mines (Transvaal) and diamond mines (Kimberly).

2 He played instrumental role in forming the British South Africa Company, under a royal charter.

3 This company acquired territories in south-central Africa and named this area "Rhodesia" after Cecil Rhodes.

2 SOUTH AFRICA

SOUTHERN AFRICA

- 1 In South Africa, the Dutch had established the Cape Colony. Later British took over Cape Colony to protect their trade routes to India.
- 2 South Africa was the part of Africa where a large number of Europeans, mainly Dutch were settled.
- 3 These settlers were known as Boers. They owned large farms and plantations. later Boers were called "Afrikaners"
- 4 British took over Cape Colony and abolished slavery. Boers did not like it, so they went north and set up two states, the Orange Free State and the Transvaal. (Together called "Afrikaner republics").

- 5 Transvaal was rich in gold, so the British plotted to overthrow Boer government.

2 SOUTH AFRICA

SOUTHERN AFRICA

6 This led to the Boer War 1899 and Boers were defeated but they continued to live here.

7 Gandhi served from British side, as an assistant superintendent of the Indian volunteer stretcher-bearer corps. He was awarded Boer war medal for his services.

8 Soon after this, the Union of South Africa was formed consisting of the Cape, Natal, Transvaal and Orange River Colony.

9 This Union was ruled by the white minority—Boers, Englishmen, and a few settlers from other European countries.

10 Later South African government later declared itself a republic.

EAST AFRICA

UGANDA

- 1 In 1890, there was an agreement between Germany and England according to which Uganda was reserved for England. In exchange Germany was given Heligoland.
- 2 In 1896, Uganda was declared a British protectorate.
- 3 Germany also gave up her claims to Zanzibar and Pemba island, Witu and Nyasaland (present Malawi), but made more conquests in the interior.
- 4 The Portuguese colony of Mozambique was to be shared out between Germany and England, but the First World War stopped the plan and Germany lost all her colonies.

NORTH AFRICA

1 ALGERIA

- 1 French occupied Algeria in 1830, it took her about 40 years to suppress the Algerian resistance.
- 2 It was the most profitable of France's colonial possessions, providing her a vast market for French goods.

2 MOROCCO

- 1 Morocco is situated on the north coast of Africa, just south of Gibraltar.
- 2 Hence very important to the western entrance of the Mediterranean.
- 3 Both France and Italy wanted Morocco. But they don't go for war, they also make an agreement.

NORTH AFRICA

3 EGYPT

- 1 In 1880s, Egyptians started revolt against this Anglo-French control.
- 2 Britain sent her army in pretext of restoring law and order and protection of the Suez Canal.
- 3 The British assured to withdraw troops from Egypt as soon as peace is established.
- 4 After the revolt was suppressed, Egypt came under British control.
- 5 When the First World War started, England announced that Egypt was no longer a Turkish province but a British protectorate!

NORTH AFRICA

3 EGYPT

- 6 Then Britain fully exploited the natural resources, manpower and economy of Egypt during WW1. Crops were seized by the army. The British Treasury took over the gold reserves of the National Bank of Egypt.
- 7 After the First World War, Egyptian leaders started for the Paris Peace Conference to plead the case of Egypt, but they were arrested.
- 8 In the 1920s, Britain was forced to recognize Egypt as an independent sovereign state. still, Britain retained her rights over the Suez and many other concessions

NORTH AFRICA

SUEZ CRISIS

- 1 During this era, Egypt was a province of the Turkish empire.
- 2 Egypt was ruled by a "Pasha" (representative/Governor appointed by the Turkish Sultan)
- 3 But France was interested in Egypt, Since the time of Napoleon
- 4 A French company had gained a concession from Ismail Pasha, the Governor of Egypt, to dig a canal across the isthmus of Suez.

SUEZ CRISIS

5 Suez Canal Connects Mediterranean and the Red seas. The canal extends 163 kilometres between Port Said in the north and Suez in the south.

6 The canal was completed in 1869 and aroused British interest in the area because it'd reduce the shipping time between Europe and Asia.

7 British PM Disraeli bought a large number of shares of the canal from the Pasha to make sure of keeping the route to India safe.

8 Disraeli called Suez canal a highway to our Indian empire.

4 SUDAN

- 1 Sudan, or what was earlier known as Egyptian Sudan, was jointly exploited by Egypt and Britain.
- 2 A Sudanese leader who had proclaimed himself the Mahdi had in the 1880s succeeded in overthrowing Egyptian and British control over Sudan.
- 3 His army had defeated Egyptian and British troops.
- 4 Later British and Egyptian troops waged a bloody war, killed 20000 Sudanese troops and recaptured Sudan. Thus, Sudan came under British rule.

NORTH AFRICA

4 SUDAN

- 5 The French at this time tried to occupy southern parts of Sudan but were forced to withdraw by the British.
- 6 France, however, was given a free hand to extend her control over what was known as western Sudan and the Sahara.
- 7 France occupied these areas after a long war of conquest. With these gains, France was able to connect her equatorial conquests with her west and north African conquests.
