A filter bubble is a state of intellectual isolation that allegedly can result from personalized searches when a website algorithm selectively guesses what information a user would like to see based on information about the user, such as location, past click-behaviour and search history.

13 ECHO CHAMBER PHENOMENON

- ◆ It is the situation, where certain ideas, beliefs or data points are reinforced.
- ◆ It is through repetition of a closed system that does not allow for the free movement of alternative or competing ideas or concepts.
- ◆ It illustrates the ways that data bottlenecks or silos restrict available choices and options for people or machines.

14 ONLINE DISINHIBITION EFFECT

- ◆ The online disinhibition effect describes the loosening of social restrictions and inhibitions through Internet, that are normally present in face-to-face interactions.

BENIGN DISINHIBITION

- ◆ Sometimes people share very personal things about themselves.
- ◆ They reveal secret emotions, fears, wishes.
- ◆ They show unusual acts of kindness and generosity.

TOXIC DISINHIBITION

- ◆ People use rude language and harsh criticisms, anger, hatred, even threats.
- ◆ People also explore the dark underworld of the internet, places of pornography and violence, places they would never visit in the real world.

15

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION / POSITIVE DISCRIMINATION

- ◆ It is the practice or policy of favouring individuals belonging to groups, known to have been discriminated against previously.
- ◆ It is a Government remedy to the effects of long-standing discrimination against such groups.
- ◆ It consists of policies, programs, and procedures that give preferences to certain groups in job hiring, admission to institutions of higher education, social benefits etc.
- ◆ This word is recently in the news in the context of 10% quota for the poor.

16

GEO-POLITICS

- ◆ It is the study of the influence of such factors as geography, economics, and demography on the politics and especially the foreign policy of a state.
- ◆ It is the analysis of the geographic influences on power relationships in international relations.
- ◆ In a much broader sense, Geopolitics can be defined as a discipline that studies the relations and interactions between Spaces (Territories), States, Civilizations, Peoples, and Economics.

17

PROTO-STATE

- ◆ It is a political entity, which does not represent a fully institutionalized or autonomous sovereign state.
- ◆ Now-a-days the term 'Proto-State' often being used with reference to militant secessionist groups that claim and exercise some form of territorial control over a specific region.

Example is Islamic State. However, it is no more in existence.

UNIPOLAR

It is international politics, where distribution of power in which one State exercises most of the cultural, economic and military influences.

EXAMPLE

USA during the 1990s and early 2000s.

BIPOLAR

It is distribution of power in which two states have the majority of economic, military and cultural influences internationally.

EXAMPLE

USA and USSR during the Cold War Era.

MULTIPOLAR

It is the distribution of power in which more than two nation states have nearly equal amounts of military, cultural and economic influences.

19

PLURILATERAL AGREEMENTS

- ◆ It is the Countries coming together in small groups to formulate or negotiate in or outside multilateral frameworks.
- ◆ Normally, the benefits are extended to all the Members, whether or not they participate, but the obligations bind only the initial members and others as they join.
- ◆ However, certain benefits accrue only to the participants, who also undertake binding commitments to that effect.

20

LEGACY ISSUES

- ◆ These are the issues that remain from an earlier time.
- ◆ Something handed down or received from an ancestor or predecessor.
- ◆ India – Pakistan issue is the legacy of partition.
