

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

PM MANMOHAN SINGH

MODULE - 11

FOREIGN POLICY OF MANMOHAN SINGH

MANMOHAN DOCTRINE

- PM Singh outlined principles which defined the foreign policy of his government which came to be known as the 'Manmohan Doctrine'.
- It laid importance on Economics in Foreign Policy.

1 India's relations with the major powers and Asian neighbours are shaped by its "developmental priorities" for the well-being of India.

2 Greater integration with the world economy will benefit India and enable our people to realize their creative potential.

FOREIGN POLICY OF MANMOHAN SINGH

MANMOHAN DOCTRINE

- 3 India would be working with the international community to create a global economic and security environment beneficial to all nations.
- 4 Greater regional cooperation and connectivity towards strengthening regional institutional capabilities.
- 5 Upholding India's values and interests.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

INDIA-USA

INDO-US CIVIL NUCLEAR DEAL

- 1 The India-US civil nuclear deal was initiated in 2005 during PM Singh's visit to USA.
- 2 After nearly 30 years of 'Nuclear Apartheid' and US-imposed sanctions since India tested its first nuclear weapon in 1974, United States implicitly recognized India as a nuclear weapons power.
- 3 Parallely, the Next Steps in Strategic Partnerships (NSSP) started in January 2004 would also complete in 2005. NSSP aimed to increase cooperation in civilian nuclear activities, civilian space programs, high-technology trade, and missile defence.

INDIA-USA

OBJECTIVES OF AGREEMENT

The agreement strengthened United States and India relations and aimed to achieve the following:

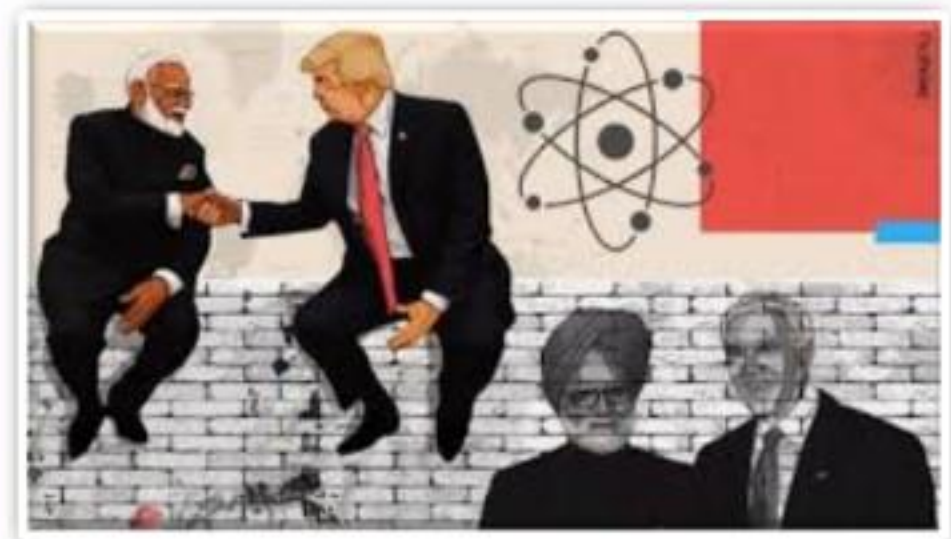

- 1 Remove core differences that impeded Indo-US strategic relationship for more than 30 years
- 2 Strengthen bilateral security and civil nuclear cooperation
- 3 Support India's economic growth and energy security
- 4 Strengthen the global non-proliferation regime.

INDIA-USA

FEATURES OF AGREEMENT

- 1 Establishment of six US nuclear power plants in India.
- 2 India would have to separate civilian and military nuclear facilities and place the civilian nuclear facilities under the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) safeguards.
- 3 India would refrain from transfer of enrichment and reprocessing technologies to states that do not have them and support international efforts to limit their spread.

INDIA-USA

FEATURES OF AGREEMENT

4 The US would work toward full civil nuclear cooperation with India, including granting India a waiver from the Nuclear Suppliers Group (NSG), which would allow members to trade nuclear material.

5 The agreement emphasised on non-proliferation of Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMD).

After being ratified in US, in 2008, the US-India Agreement for Cooperation Concerning Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy (123 Agreement) came into existence.

INDIA-USA

BENEFITS FOR INDIA

- 1 The agreement could reduce India's heavy dependence on fossil fuels to meet the energy needs. India got access to critical technologies in strategic areas, including alternative energy.
- 2 It would help in the sustainable development of India's economy.
- 3 In spite of being a non-NPT state India could enjoy the same benefits and advantages as other leading nuclear powers, like the United States.

INDIA-USA

EVALUATION OF IMPLEMENTATION

- 1 India has 15 of its reactors under the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA)
- 2 India signed long-term civil nuclear cooperation agreements, mostly to import uranium, with the US, France, Russia, Canada, Argentina, Australia, Sri Lanka, the UK, Japan, Vietnam, Bangladesh, Kazakhstan, and South Korea
- 3 The agreement, however, failed to list technical details and financial aspect of the deal.

- 4 No foreign-built reactors have been set up so far in India.

INDIA-JAPAN

STRATEGICALLY AND GEOPOLITICALLY IMPORTANT JAPAN

- Indo-Japan relationship helps India's ambitions of becoming an Asia-Pacific power in the future.
- PM Singh elevated this relationship to a strategic partnership.

In December 2006, PM Singh delivered a speech at the Diet of Japan.

- 1 He spoke about strengthening India-Japan relations and being committed to nuclear disarmament.
- 2 The two leaders agreed to raise their bilateral relations to "Strategic and Global Partnership" and signed a Joint Statement which specified efforts in the areas of politics and security, economy, and people-to-people exchanges

INDIA-JAPAN

STRATEGICALLY AND GEOPOLITICALLY IMPORTANT JAPAN

3

With regard to regional and international cooperation, the two countries agreed to continue to cooperate in the areas of United Nations reform, the East Asia Summit framework, disarmament and non-proliferation, and anti-terrorism efforts, and agreement to implement Strategic Dialogue at the Foreign Minister-level.

INDIA-JAPAN

STRATEGICALLY AND GEOPOLITICALLY IMPORTANT JAPAN

4 Agreement to promote "Japan-India Special Economic Partnership Initiative (SEPI)" was signed. Steps to promote India's economic development, promote Japanese business investment in India, and strengthen India's manufacturing industry were taken

5 A "Business Leaders' Forum," to deepen cooperation at the business level was established

6 People-to-people contacts and cultural exchanges at the Japan-India Friendship Year 2007 was encouraged

7 Steps to increase tourism and youth exchanges between the two countries were agreed upon

INDIA-CHINA

BORDER DISPUTES

- 1 Border skirmishes and intrusion of Chinese troops on the Indian side of LAC led to India increasing its security infrastructure during PM Singh's tenure.
- 2 According to official sources, China illegally occupied 38,000 sq. km of land in Jammu and Kashmir and 5,180 sq. km of Indian territory in Pakistan Occupied Kashmir under the Sino-Pak agreement of 1963.
- 3 China is interested in the Tawang region and referred to Arunachal Pradesh as 'Southern Tibet'.
- 4 Parallely, India strengthened its relations with Vietnam, South Korea and Japan to counter China's expansionism.
- 5 Several confidence building measures were launched with China to maintain status quo along the Line of Actual Control under two different regimes in Beijing.

INDIA-CHINA

TRADE RELATIONS

- 1 India and China shared an unbalanced trade relationship. India has grown more reliant on China especially for critical items.
- 2 India's primary export to China is only iron ore.
- 3 At the BRICS Summit in 2010, the two sides agreed to take measures to promote Indian exports in China, to reduce India's trade deficit.
- 4 The two countries also agreed to expand co-operation in infrastructure, environment, information technology, telecommunications, and investment and finance.

INDIA-RUSSIA

LONG-STANDING FRIEND

- 1 PM Singh visited Russia in October 2013 and highlighted India's unique and strong relationship with Russia.
- 2 It included cooperation in areas such as defence, nuclear energy, science and technology, hydrocarbons, trade and investment, and people-to-people exchanges.
- 3 Their views converged on issues of global and regional issues.
- 4 However, during the visit, the leaders failed to sign a nuclear power deal

- 5 On October 21, PM Singh was conferred with an Honorary Doctorate by the Moscow State Institute of International Relations (MGIMO).

INDIA-AFGHANISTAN

On PM Singh's visit to Afghanistan, the countries agreed to establish a strategic partnership to provide for engagement across political, security and economic fronts.

- 1 India agreed to provide $2 billion aid to Afghanistan and invested in small development projects including the 218 km Zaranj-Delaram road, power transmission lines to Kabul, the Salma dam and the construction of the new Afghan Parliament
- 2 PM Singh told President Karzai that India would endorse Afghanistan's candidature for SAARC.
- 3 The two leaders held discussions about regional stability, counter-terrorism and the India-Afghanistan strategic partnership.

INDIA-AFGHANISTAN

4 They also announced commercial ties in mining, mineral exploration and development of hydrocarbons, including oil and natural gas

5 India used its soft power to its advantage. Three MoUs on small developmental projects on health care and agriculture were signed.

INDIA-AFRICA

Africa is very resource-rich, and has been growing economically.

- 1 PM Singh held the first India-Africa summit in 2008 with leaders from Africa and unveiled a new strategy of "resource diplomacy" in Africa.
- 2 It offered $5bn (£2.5bn) in credit.
- 3 India agreed to help Africa in Health, education, agriculture, and training. India has worked for training, education and capacity-building programs.

INDIA-AFRICA

4 India needs Africa for oil and support in the UN Security Council.

5 African leaders agreed that India could not compete with US and China, but Indian companies transferred technology, assistance, training and know-how to Africa.

WE EXPRESS OUR SINCERE THANKS
FOR VIEWING THIS VIDEO

Presented by

Learning Space

For Suggestions:

suggestions@learningspace.in

To Contact us:

info@learningspace.in

For Information:

info.learningspacedigital@gmail.com

Visit us at:

www.learningspacedigital.com

0866 244 44 72

98499 42299

94415 27588