

INDIAN SOCIETY

MODULE - 12

GLOBALIZATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

GLOBALISATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

Globalization is a process of international integration of individuals, regions and countries, arising from the convergence of world views, products, ideas, and other aspects of culture.

- 1 The effect of globalisation is far reaching. It affects us all but affects us differently.
- 2 While for some it may mean new opportunities, for others the loss of livelihood.

GLOBALISATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

EXAMPLES OF LOSS OF LIVELIHOOD

1 Women silk spinners and twisters of Bihar lost their jobs once the Chinese and Korean silk yarn entered the market.

- Weavers and consumers prefer this yarn as it is somewhat cheaper and has a shine.

2 In Gujarat, women gum collectors, who were picking from the 'julifera' (Baval trees), lost their employment due to the import of cheaper gum from Sudan.

3 In almost all cities of India, the rag pickers lost some of their employment due to import of waste paper from developed countries.

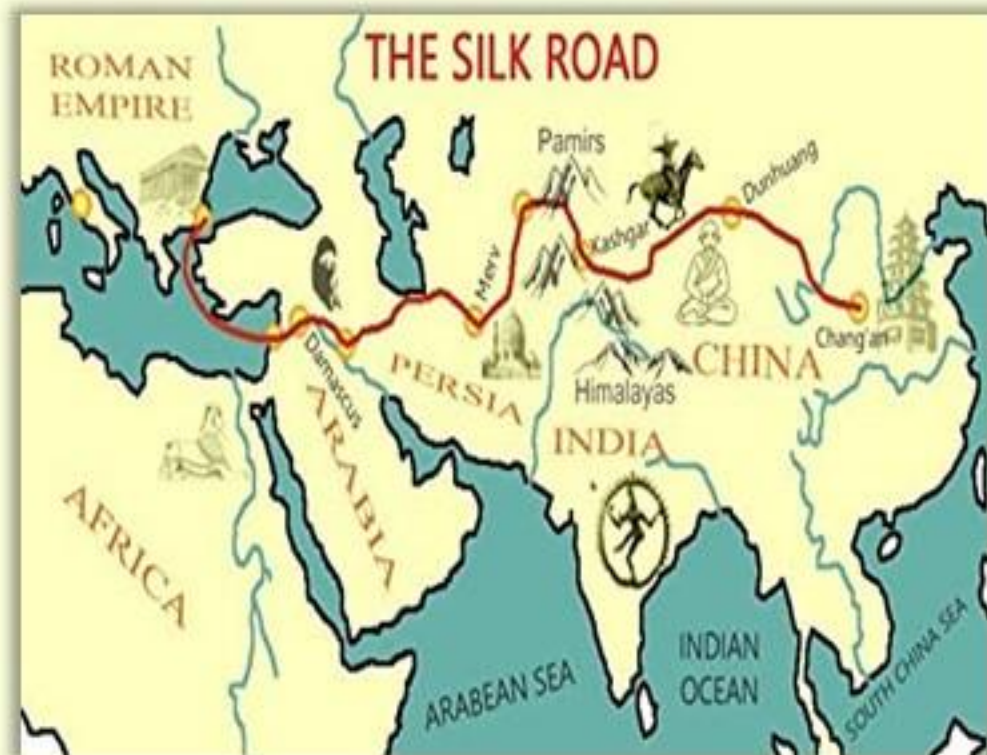

4 Large number of suicides by the traditional weavers in Sircilla village of Karimnagar district and in Dubakka village in Medak district, both in Andhra Pradesh.

ARE GLOBAL INTERCONNECTIONS NEW TO WORLD AND TO INDIA?

1 The famous Silk route, which centuries ago connected India to the great civilisations, which existed in China, Persia, Egypt and Rome.

2 Throughout India's long past, people from different parts came here, sometimes as traders, sometimes as conquerors, sometimes as migrants in search of new lands and settled down here.

COLONIALISM AND THE GLOBAL CONNECTION

- 1 Modern capitalism had a global dimension from its very inception.
- 2 Colonialism was part of the system that required new sources of capital, raw materials, energy, markets and a global network that sustained it.
- 3 Often globalisation today identifies large-scale movement of people or migration as a defining feature. However, the greatest movement of people was the migration of European people who settled down in the Americas and Australia.
- 4 Indentured labourers were taken away in ships from India to work in distant parts of Asia, Africa and Americas.
- 5 Export and import of raw material, goods and technology was very much part of development since independence.
- 6 Foreign firms did operate in India and Migration was an ongoing process.

- 1 Independent India retained a global outlook which was inherited from the Indian nationalist movement.
- 2 Commitment to liberation struggles throughout the world, solidarity with people from different parts of the world was very much part of this vision.
- 3 The state believed that the market alone would not be able to look after all the welfare of the people, particularly its disadvantaged sections. It felt that the state had an important role to play for the welfare of the people.
- 4 Since 1991, the Indian economy has witnessed a series of reforms in all major sectors of the economy (agriculture, industry, trade, foreign investment and technology, public sector, financial institutions etc). Also called LPG reforms.
- 5 Liberalisation of the economy meant the steady removal of the rules that regulated Indian trade and finance regulations.

- 6 The process of liberalisation also involved the taking of loans from international institutions such as the International Monetary Fund (IMF). These loans are given on certain conditions.
- 7 These adjustments usually mean cuts in state expenditure on the social sector such as health, education and social security.
- 8 There is emergence of weightless and knowledge economies.
 - a The weightless economy is one in which products have their base in information, as in the case with computer software, media and entertainment products and internet based services.
 - b A knowledge economy is one in which much of the workforce is involved not in the physical production or distribution of material goods, but in their design, development, technology, marketing, sale and servicing.

- 9 Advances in technology and the world's telecommunications infrastructure has led to revolutionary changes in global communication.
- 10 This also resulted in digital divide in India. According to the 75th round of National Sample Survey conducted between July 2017 and June 2018, just 4.4 per cent rural households have a computer, against 14.4 per cent in urban areas, with just 14.9 per cent rural households having access to the internet against 42 per cent households in urban areas.
- 11 To create global interconnectedness more efficiently and bridge digital divide, the Government of India has initiated programmes like 'Digital India' & PMDISHA.

FACTORS AIDING GLOBALIZATION

- 1 Technology: increased the speed of communication manifolds
- 2 LPG Reforms: greater economic liberalization which has in turn increased India's interaction with the rest of the world.
- 3 Faster Transportation
- 4 Rise of WTO: formation of WTO in 1994 led to reduction in tariffs and non-tariff barriers across the world.
- 5 Improved mobility of capital, Rise of MNCs facilitated the world in becoming a "global village" by internationalization of food habits, dress habits, lifestyle and views.
- 6 Colonization, world war, Refugees due to civil war etc.

EFFECT OF GLOBALISATION

ECONOMIC IMPACT

1 Greater Number of Jobs. For the middle class youth from urban centres, globalisation and the IT revolution has opened up new career opportunities. But yet, they are working as sales persons in shopping malls or picking up jobs at the various restaurants that have opened up.

2 More choice to consumers

3 Higher Disposable Incomes: People in cities working in high paying jobs

4 Protein food inflation contributes a large part to the food inflation in India

5

Shrinking Agricultural Sector

- a International norms imposed by WTO and other multilateral organizations have reduced government support to agriculture.
- b Greater integration of global commodities markets leads to constant fluctuation in prices.
- c Increasing vulnerability of Indian farmers as farmers are also increasingly dependent on seeds and fertilizers sold by the MNCs.

EFFECT OF GLOBALISATION

ECONOMIC IMPACT

6 Increasing Health-Care costs: COVID 19 or Ebola, the diseases have taken a global turn, spreading far and wide.

7 Child Labour: Despite prohibition of child labour by the Indian constitution, over 60 to 115 million children in India still work.

8 Instead of mass production of goods at a centralised location (Fordism), we have moved to a system of flexible production at dispersed locations (post-Fordism) which resulted in vulnerable and insecure labour

EFFECT OF GLOBALISATION

SOCIO-CULTURAL IMPACT ON INDIAN SOCIETY

- 1 Nuclear families are emerging. Divorce rates are rising day by day. Men and women are gaining equal right to education, to earn, and to speak. 'Hi', 'Hello' is used to greet people in spite of Namaskar and Namaste.
- 2 American festivals like Valentines' day, Friendship day etc. are spreading across India.
- 3 Access to education: greater need for specialisation and promotion of higher education. Flipside - advent of private education, coaching classes and paid study material has created a gap between the haves and have-nots.
- 4 Explosion of information on the web that has helped in greater awareness among people.
- 5 Growth of cities

EFFECT OF GLOBALISATION

SOCIO-CULTURAL IMPACT ON INDIAN SOCIETY

- 6 Indian cuisine is one of the most popular cuisines across the globe. Pizzas, burgers, Chinese foods and other Western foods have become quite popular in India.
- 7 Nuclear Families: increasing migration coupled with financial independence has led to the breaking of joint families. The western influence of individualism has led to an aspirational generation of youth.
- 8 Old Age Vulnerability: reduced the social security that the joint family provided
- 9 Pervasive Media and penetration of distinct political ideologies.

EFFECT OF GLOBALISATION

SOCIO-CULTURAL IMPACT ON INDIAN SOCIETY

- 10 Cultural consumption is playing in the process of globalisation especially in shaping the growth of cities.
- 11 Till the 1970s the manufacturing industries used to play a major role in the growth of cities.
- 12 Presently, cultural consumption (of art, food, fashion, music, tourism) shapes to a large extent the growth of cities. This is evident in the spurt in the growth of shopping malls, multiplex cinema halls, amusement parks and 'water world' in every major city in India.

EFFECT OF GLOBALISATION

PSYCHOLOGICAL IMPACT ON INDIAN SOCIETY

1 Development of Bicultural Identity /hybrid identity:

- part of one's identity is rooted in the local culture while another part stems from an awareness of one's relation to the global world.
- People today especially the young develop an identity that gives them a sense of belonging to a worldwide culture, which includes an awareness of events, practices, styles and information that are a part of the global culture.

2 Growth of Self-Selected Culture:

- One of the most vehement criticisms of globalization is that it threatens to create one homogeneous worldwide culture in which all children grow up wanting to be like the latest pop music star, eat Big Macs, vacation at Disney World, and wear blue jeans, and Nikes.

The logo for 'GLOBAL CITIZEN' features the word 'GLOBAL' in a large, bold, dark blue sans-serif font, with the letter 'O' highlighted in red. Below it, the word 'CITIZEN' is written in the same dark blue font, followed by a registered trademark symbol (®).

EFFECT OF GLOBALISATION

PSYCHOLOGICAL IMPACT ON INDIAN SOCIETY

3 Emerging Adulthood:

- The timing of transitions to adult roles such as work, marriage and parenthood are occurring at later stages in most parts of the world as the need for preparing for jobs in an economy that is highly technological and information based is slowly extending from the late teens to the mid-twenties.

4 Consumerism

GLOCALISATION OF CULTURE

- 1
 - Globalisation refers to the mixing of the global with the local.
 - It is not entirely spontaneous.
 - Nor is it entirely delinked from the commercial interests of globalisation.
- 2 In India, all the foreign television channels like Star, MTV, Channel V and Cartoon Network use Indian languages.
- 3 Even McDonald sells only vegetarian and chicken products in India and not its beef products, which are popular abroad.
 - McDonaldization: increasing rationalization of the routine tasks of everyday life.
 - Walmartization: rise of big businesses which have nearly killed the small traditional businesses in our society.
- 4 In the field of music, there is growth of popularity of 'Bhangra pop', 'Indi pop', fusion music and even remixes.

GLOBALISATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

WOMEN

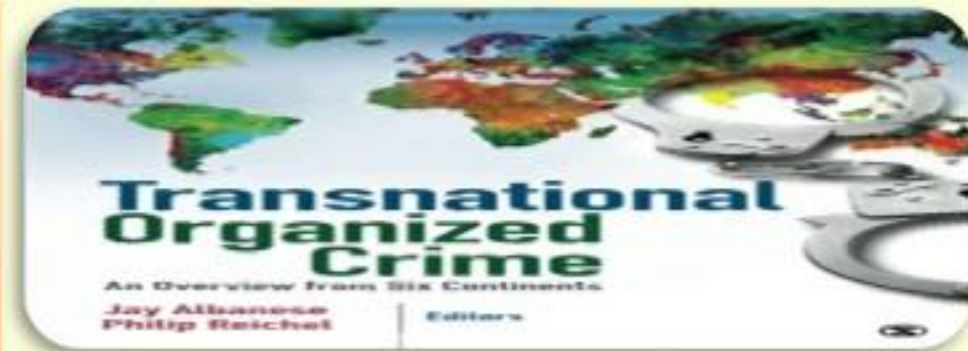

- 1 New opportunities towards financial independence and choice in personal lives.
- 2 Kutchcraft, an association of 110 craftswomen's groups has generated over 6,000 job opportunities since India embarked on the path of globalisation.
- 3 Negative Mechanisation- Several traditional industries where women work in large numbers like handloom and food processing have undergone changes in the forms of production with introduction of machines, power looms etc.,
- 4 Informalisation with 95% women as informal labour and feminization of agriculture in rural areas

GLOBALISATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

NEW INTERNAL SECURITY CHALLENGES

- 1 The deepening of poverty and inequality - prosperity for a few countries and people, marginalisation and exclusion for the many – has implications for social and political stability among and within states.
- 2 The rapid growth of global markets has not seen the parallel development of social and economic institutions to ensure balanced, inclusive and sustainable growth.
- 3 Globalisation let loose the forces of “uncivil society” and accelerated the transnational flows of terrorism, human and drug trafficking, organised crime, piracy, and pandemic diseases.
- 4 The notion that endless liberalisation, deregulation and relaxation of capital and all border controls (except labour) will assure perpetual self-sustaining growth and prosperity has proven to be delusional.

GLOBALISATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

NEW INTERNAL SECURITY CHALLENGES

- 5 Human trafficking is among the darkest sides of globalisation, turning human beings into commodities bought and sold in the international marketplace.
- 6 A different kind of challenge is posed by insurgencies that thrive as a result of the inequalities created by globalization.
- 7 The “development dichotomy” explains why dramatic national-level progress in India has gone hand in hand with an ever greater gap between the prosperity of urban, middle-class Indians and the squalor still seen in many of its villages.

GLOBALISATION AND SOCIAL CHANGE

NEW INTERNAL SECURITY CHALLENGES

8 Jihadists have excelled at using modern IT and telecom technology to promote their cause and foster their objectives.

9 Also, attempts by some multi-national companies to patent our traditional knowledge like use of Tulsi, Haldi (turmeric), Rudraksha and Basmati rice shows the threat and the need for protecting the base of India's indigenous knowledge systems.

An ISIS operative from Kerala features in yet another attack in Afghanistan
