TRIBAL INTEGRATION

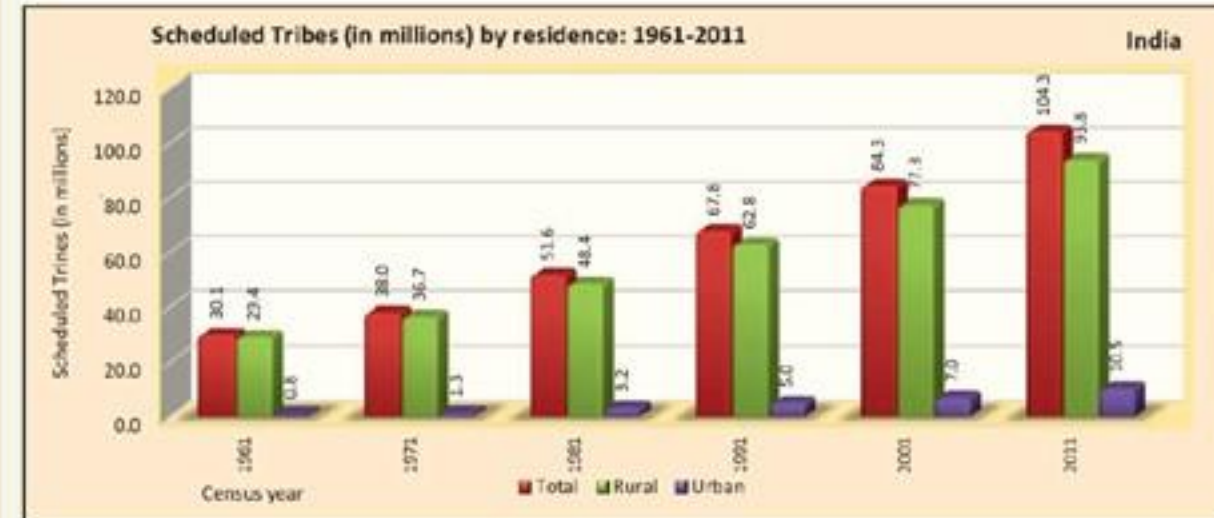

MODULE-21

TRIBAL COMMUNITY OF INDIA

- 1 Tribals live in varied conditions-speak different languages and have distinct cultures. They reside in hills and forest areas.
- 2 They access the forest and its resources and practice hunting-gathering, shifting cultivation and other traditional forms of farming
- 3 In 1971, tribals comprised 6.9 percent of the populations. Mostly spread in Madhya Pradesh, Bihar, Odisha, north-eastern India, West Bengal, Maharashtra, Gujrat and Rajasthan.

HISTORY OF TRIBAL COMMUNITY

PROBLEM

Colonialism-radical transformation because of British policies- later integrated into British India and princely states. British bought large tracts of forest lands to conserve forests and facilitate forest lands.

British looked for revenue extraction from the tribes.

- Relative isolation of tribes was eroded.
- Restricted access to forest use of forest resources.
- Forbade shifting cultivation.
- Oppression by police and exploitation by Britishers because tribes were ignorant.
- Christian missionaries started altering their culture and encouraged conversion.

Tribal uprising- Santhal rebellion, Munda rebellion
Peasant movements in Orissa, Bihar, West Bengal, Andhra, Maharashtra and Gujrat.

TRIBALS UNDER BRITISH

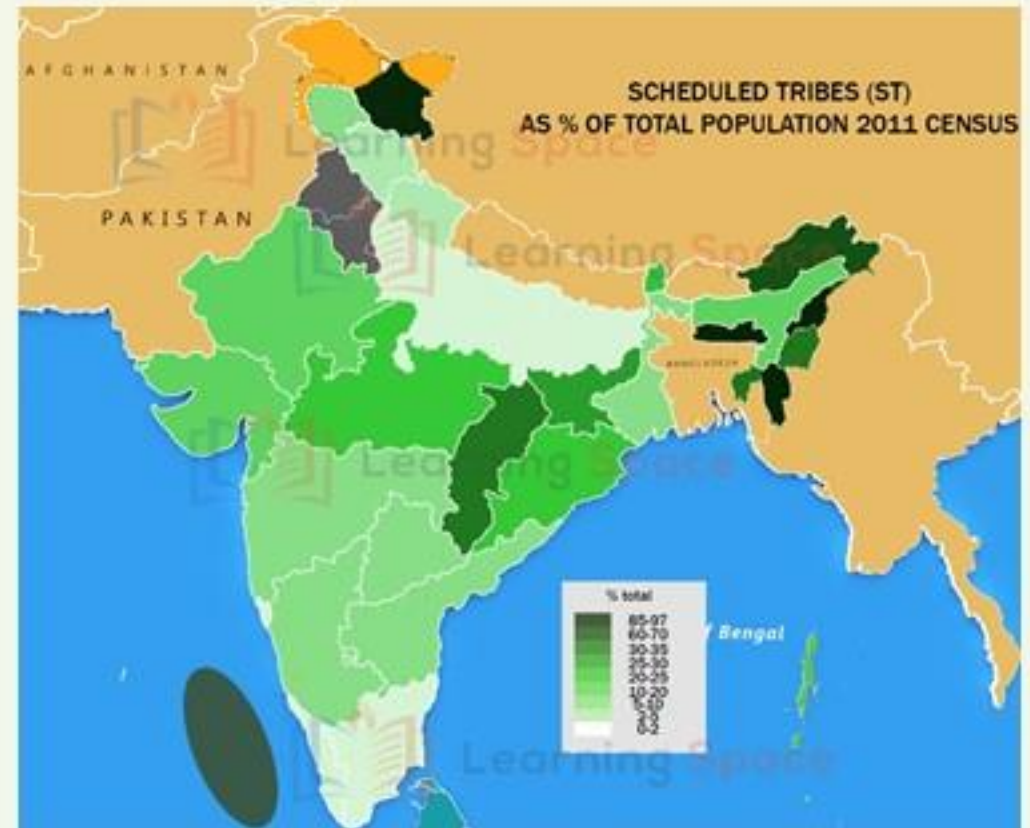

1 With British rule, the areas inhabited by tribes had been opened up to commercialization and colonization.

2 The forests, the rivers passing through and the mineral resources they lived in acquired market value. They were deprived of access to forests, dispossessed of their lands and placed in debt to money lenders.

3 Some parts remained untouched

4 The 'outsider' was increasingly seen as one who was seeking to usurp the resources of the adivasis.

5 In the Chotanagpur plateau, for example, the non-tribal was known as diku, a term that evoked fear as well as resentment.

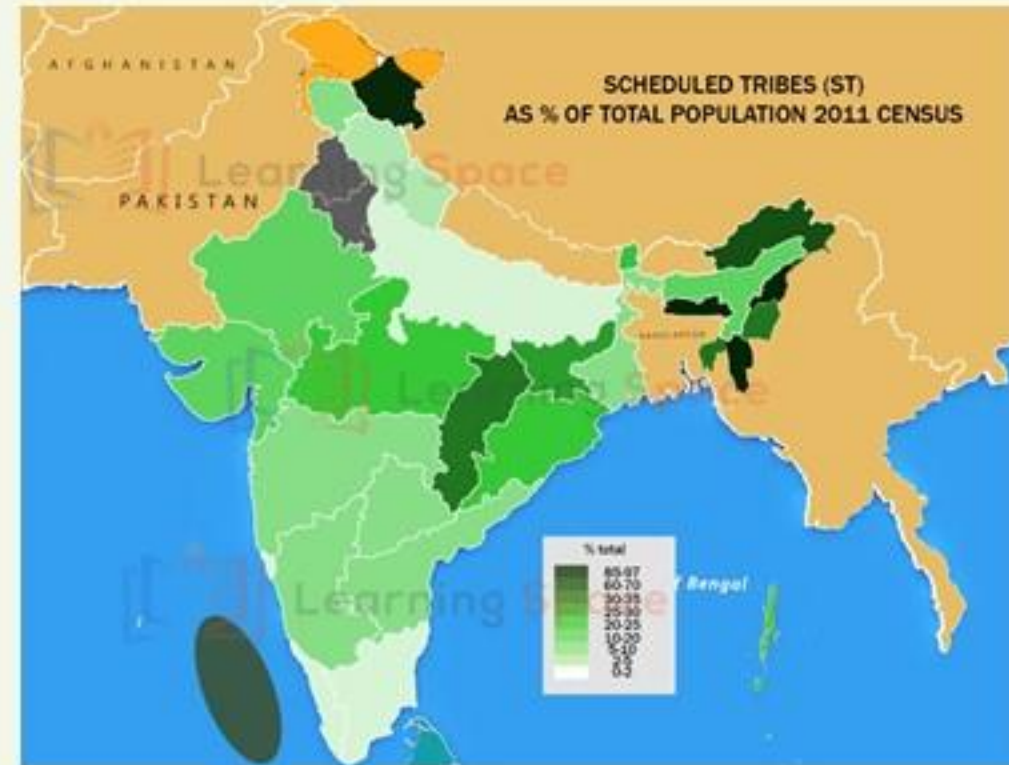

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY ON TRIBALS

- 1 The Constituent Assembly recognized this vulnerability, and spent days debating what to do about it.
- 2 Ultimately, it decided to designate some 400 communities as 'scheduled tribes'.
- 3 These constituted about 7 per cent of the population, and had seats reserved for them in the legislature as well as in government departments.

SCHEDULE V

- 1 The Fifth Schedule of the Constitution deals with the administration and control of Scheduled Areas as well as of Scheduled Tribes residing in any State other than the States of Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura and Mizoram.
- 2 The Schedule allowed for the creation of tribal advisory councils and for curbs on moneylending and on the sale of tribal land to outsiders.

CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS

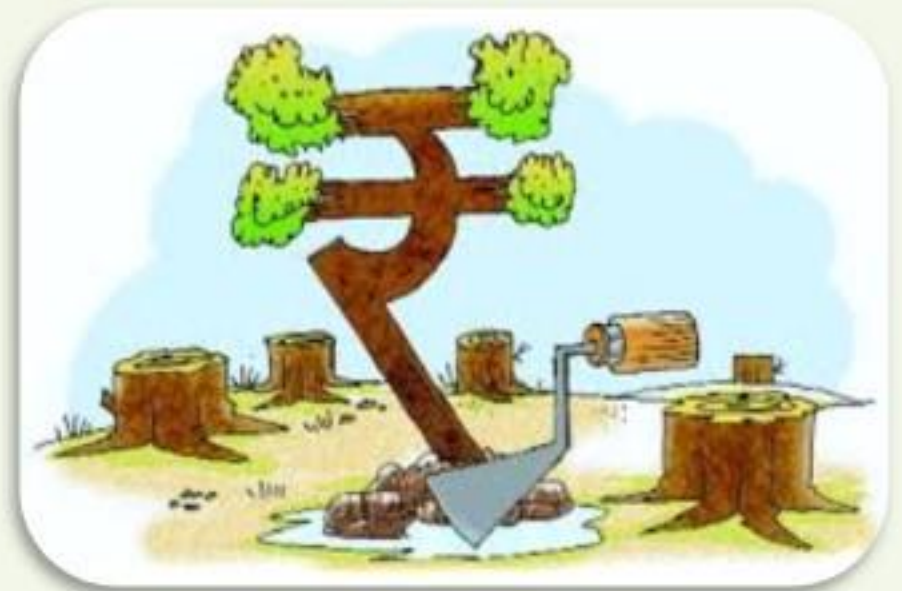

SCHEDULE VI

- 1 The Constituent Assembly approved this Schedule in 1949.
- 2 According to Article 244 of the Indian Constitution, the Sixth Schedule consists of provisions for the administration of tribal areas in Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura and Mizoram
- 3 It seeks to safeguard the rights of tribal population through the formation of Autonomous District Councils (ADC). ADCs are bodies representing a district protecting local rights in land, forests and waterways and instructing state governments to share mining revenues with the local council, a concession not granted anywhere else in India
- 4 The governors of these states are empowered to reorganise boundaries of the tribal areas

CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS

- 1 Article 46 of the constitution places an obligation upon States to promote the interests of Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes and protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation.
- 2 State government has accepted the policy of prohibiting transfer of land from Tribals to non-tribals and restoration of alienated land to tribals.
- 3 States with large tribal populations have enacted laws prohibiting alienation of tribal lands and promoting restoration of alienated land.
- 4 Though results have been forthcoming in efforts undertaken by different States for restoration of tribal lands, the task is yet to be completed.

1

Article 75 provides grants from Central Governments to states for the welfare of Scheduled Tribes and raising level of administration in the Scheduled areas.

2

Article 275(1) provides special grant-in-aid for promoting the welfare of the Scheduled Tribes.

3

Article 330, 332, 335 allocates a reservation of seats for the Scheduled Tribes in Lok Sabha and in state legislatures as well as in services.

STATUTORY PROVISIONS

- 1 Forest Rights Act of 2006 pertaining to Scheduled Tribes and Other Traditional Forest Dwellers.
- 2 Protection of Civil Rights Act of 1955 relating to punishing discrimination.
- 3 SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act to prevent commission of offences against members of SCs and STs and Special Courts for trial of such cases.
- 4 Panchayat(Extension to Scheduled Areas) Act 1996 or PESA covers the 'Scheduled Areas' which are not mentioned in the 73rd Amendment Act.

AIM

- Tribal integration- preservation of tribal people's rich and cultural heritage
- Empower the tribes

TWO APPROACHES

- 1 To leave the tribal people alone, untouched by modern influences- isolation not possible as already outsiders have entered into their community who will exploit them further
- 2 Assimilate them into the Indian society- mainstream them- loss of tribal social and cultural identity

POST INDEPENDENCE DEVELOPMENTS

ADDRESSING THE ISSUE

COMBINED THESE TWO APPROACHES

- 1 Make the Tribes integral part of Indian society, develop them socially and economically but preserve their distinct identity and culture.
- 2 Tribal rights in lands and forests to be respected.
- 3 No incursion of market forces into tribal lands.
- 4 Safeguard and encourage tribal language.
- 5 Constitution granted political rights to the tribal people.
- 6 Reserve seats in the legislatures and administrative services for Scheduled Tribes and Scheduled Castes.
- 7 Autonomy to their areas and no over-administration of their areas.
- 8 No superiority to be displayed by other people visiting Tribal areas- they should be treated as equal.

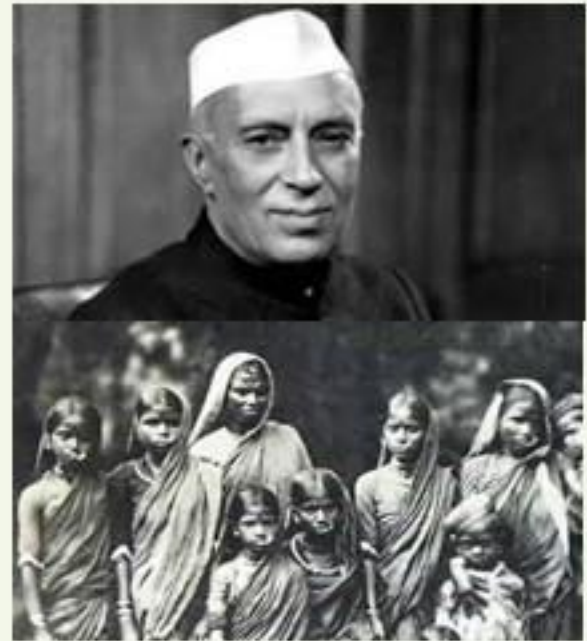

1

PM Nehru wanted to bring economic and social development of the tribal people especially in development of agriculture, access to medical facilities, education and communication.

2

He laid a vision for the Tribal community called 'Tribal Panchsheel'

- People should develop along the lines of their own genius and not imposition by aliens. Encourage indigenous art and culture
- Respect tribal rights in land and forest
- Train and build a team to work in administration. Do not allow many outsiders into own territories.
- Tribal areas should not be over-administered with schemes. Administration should function according to social and cultural institutions.
- Results should be judged by human character and not statistics.

TRIBES AFTER INDEPENDENCE

1. PROTESTS FOR JHARKHAND

- 1 In February 1948, Jaipal Singh delivered the presidential address to the All-India Adivasi Mahasabha
- 2 He spoke of the greatest problem of adivasis- 'British imperialism' replaced by 'Bihari imperialism'.
- 3 He identified the land question as the most crucial, and urged the speedy creation of a Jharkhand state by raising a slogan that combined local pride with a wider Indian patriotism: 'Jai Jharkhand! Jai Adivasi! Jai Hind!'

TRIBES AFTER INDEPENDENCE

- 4 The Adivasi Mahasabha was renamed the Jharkhand Party, and after several years of steady campaigning fought under that name in the first general election of 1952.
- 5 In 1950s, the Jharkhand movement carried on its campaign for a province within India run for and by Adivasis.
- 6 In January 1955, States Reorganization Commission was encountered with processions 'Jharkhand alag prant!' (Jharkhand must be a separate state).

2. TRIBES OF NORTH-EAST

- 1 Among the tribes of north-east India the Nagas were perhaps the most autonomous.
- 2 Their territory lay on the Indo-Burmese border and constituted a significant population in Burma as well
- 3 Some Nagas had contact with Hindu villages in Assam, to whom they sold rice in exchange for salt.
- 4 Yet the Nagas had been totally outside the fold of the Congress-led national movement. They had not participated in the independence struggles

NAGA TRIBES

1 The Naga question really dates to 1946, at the time when India was getting independent.

2 As elections were held across India, in January 1946 a group who were 'educated Christians and spoke expressive English formed the Naga National Council, or NNC

3 The NNC stood for the unity of all Nagas, and for their 'self-determination'.

4 This nationalist movement was led by middle-class intellectuals and came out with a journal to spread their ideas called The Naga Nation.

TRIBES OF MANIPUR

- 1 Manipur covered an area of 8,600 square miles.
- 2 There was a mere 700 square miles of valley, inhabited by 380,000 Meitei's owing allegiance to the Vaishnava traditions of Hinduism.
- 3 It was one such tribe mentioned Rishang Keishing, who in 1954 began a movement for representative government in Manipur.

MEITEI PEOPLE

RONGMEI (KABUI)

ZOU PEOPLE OR ZOMI

TRIBES OF MANIPUR

- 1 Keishing and his fellow socialists daily picketed the office of the chief commissioner in Imphal.
- 2 Thousands of satyagrahis courted arrest, many of them women. But the government would not yield.
- 3 Speaking in Parliament, the home minister said that the time was not ripe for the creation of legislative assemblies in Part C states such as Manipur and Tripura.
- 4 'These states', he said, 'are strategically situated on the borders of India.'

- 5 The people are still comparatively politically backward and the administrative machinery in these States is still weak.

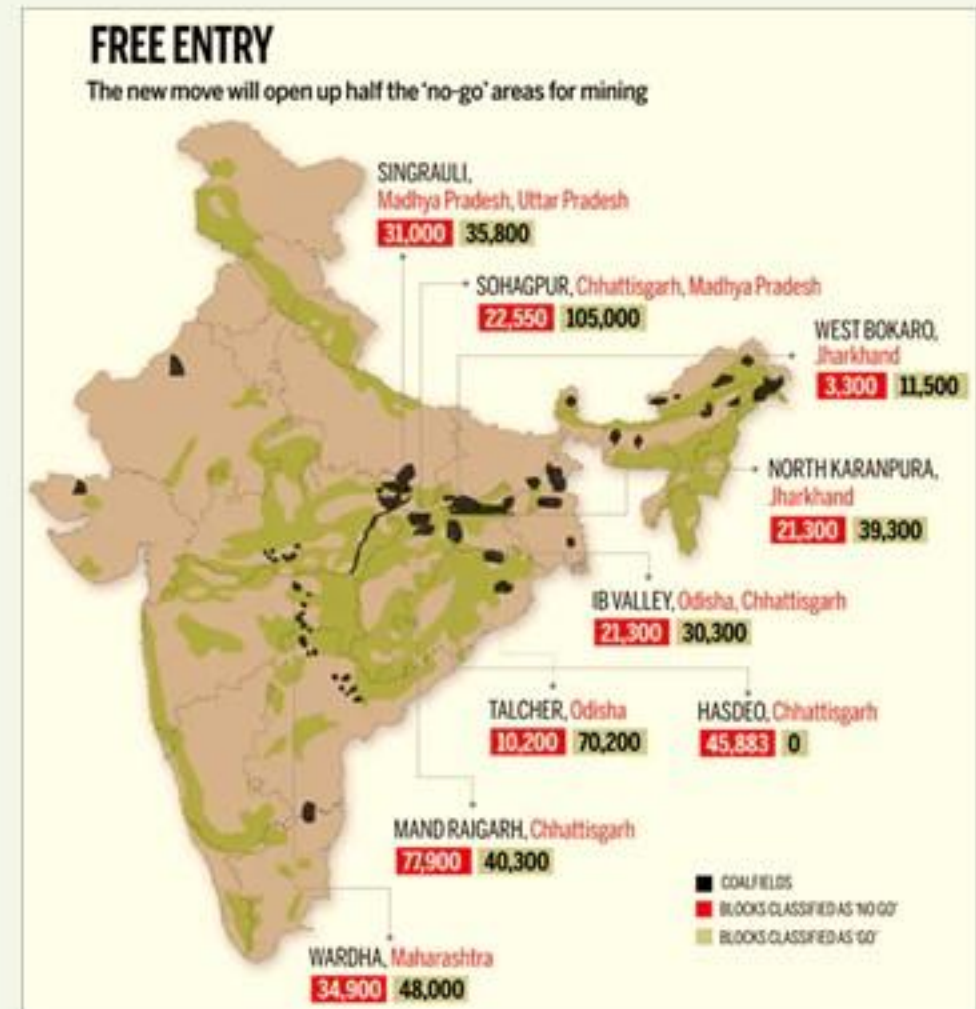

POST INDEPENDENCE DEVELOPMENTS

ASSESSMENT

ISSUES

Alienation of tribals continues because of the following reasons:

- Land is the main source of livelihood for the tribals and the protection of their land becomes imperative
- Lack of legal knowledge among tribals
- Poor Implementation of laws and regulations
- Legal and administrative loopholes
- mortgaging of land to moneylenders due to indebtedness, poverty
- acquisition of tribal land for irrigation, dams and other public purposes
- Excessive mining activity and industrialization
- Traditional rights of access to forests denied.
- Implementation of Schedule V and VI, Forest Tribes Act and Tribal advisory Council is sketchy
- Tribal language not developed- spread of education hampered.

POST INDEPENDENCE DEVELOPMENTS ASSESSMENT

POSITIVES

- Laws to protect tribal rights and interests.
- Tribal welfare department works
- Panchayati Raj
- Spread of literacy and education
- States containing notified tribal areas ratified laws for prevention of alienation of the tribals from land.
- In all the scheduled areas, land transfer from tribal to non-tribal population was prohibited by law.

Tribal discontent has spread across the country's breadth, sparking political movements and militancy.

MADHYA PRADESH

- Tribal population 21%
- Tribals have formed political savvy groups such as the Jai Adivasi Yuva Shakti.
- This group was floated by a former AIIMS doctor in 2012.

MAHARASHTRA

- Tribal population 9%
- Groups like Sarvahara Jan Andolan want the consent of gramasabhas taken before acquiring land for development projects.

WEST BENGAL

- Tribal population 6%.
- The Bharath Jakat Majhi Parghana Mahal runs 60 Santhali schools against the Trinamool Congress in the Panchayat polls.

POST INDEPENDENCE DEVELOPMENTS

ACTIVITIES IN STATES

JHARKHAND

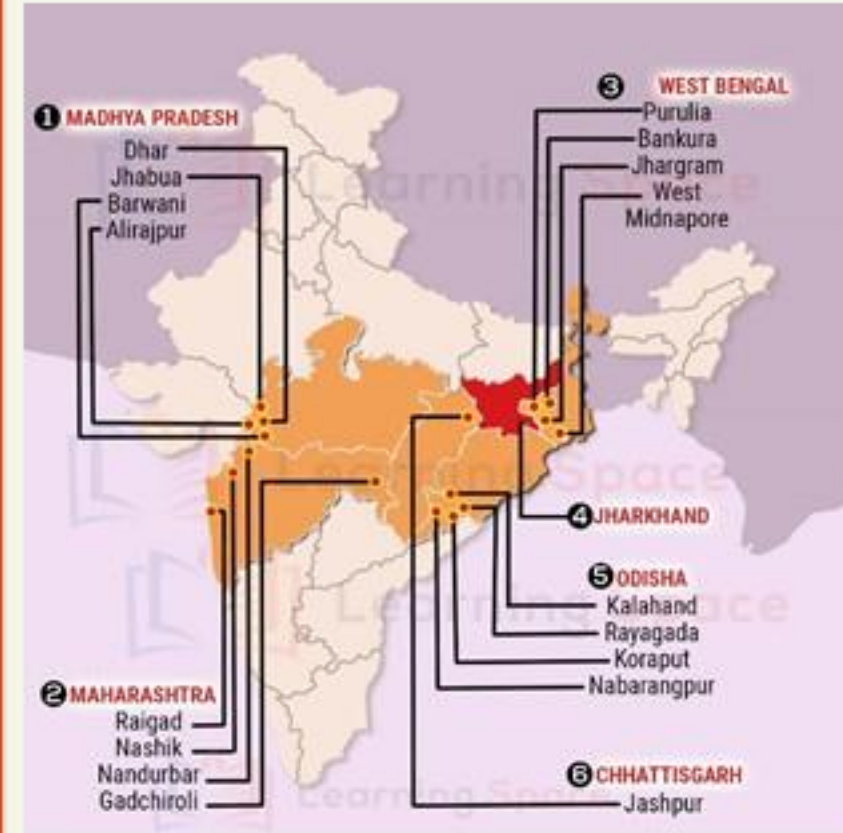

- Tribal population 26%.
- The Pathalgadi movement is spread over 100 tribal villages in three districts.
- A new law on land acquisition could provoke further mistrust.

ODISHA

- Tribal population 23%.
- The Dongria Khond community's successful struggle to save the Niyamgiri Hills from Bauxite mining drew world wide attention.

CHATTISGARH

- Tribal population 31%.
- Pathalgadi activism in Surajpur and Jashpur districts.
- Last month, Jashpur officials were disallowed entry into Kaliya village.
