MAJOR PROBLEMS ASSOCIATED WITH INDIAN EMPLOYMENT STRUCTURE

- 1 There is a disparity in the occupational structure of men and women.
- 2 Men are paid more than women.
- 3 Certain activities became prerogative of men by default.
- 4 More than 90% workers are informal.
- 5 Job growth is not commensurate with the GDP, more so during the last 10 years.
- 6 Automation is resulting in further poor job creation during the past few years.
- 7 More and more organized sector enterprises are creating more and more informal sector jobs.
- 8 Casual farm laborers are the worst affected after globalization due to the reduction in investment in agriculture sector.
- 9 Workers in private sector get a lower salary in comparison to persons doing the same work in the public sector.
