REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENTS

INDIAN NATIONAL MOVEMENT

RISE OF REVOLUTIONARIES

Revolutionary activities which Bipin Chandra referred as “Revolutionary terrorism” was the most aggressive form of “freedom struggle” adopted by the highly charged nationalist youth. They were not only angry at the colonial rule, exploitation, injustices, but also dissatisfied with the political leadership of their fellow countrymen.

We can study revolutionary movement in two phases:-

PHASE I (1907-1917)

STARTED AS FALLOUT OF THE
SWADESHI AND BOYCOTT MOVEMENT.

PHASE II (FROM 1920s)

STARTED AS FALLOUT OF THE
NON-COOPERATION MOVEMENT

INDIAN NATIONAL MOVEMENT

RISE OF REVOLUTIONARIES

WHY REVOLUTIONARY ACTIVITIES GAINED MOMENTUM FROM 1907?

The activities of revolutionary heroism started as a byproduct of the growth of militant nationalism.

The younger nationalists who had participated in the movement found it impossible to leave off and disappear into the background.

VASUDEO BALWANT
PHADKE

Vasudeo Balwant Phadke was an Indian revolutionary and is widely regarded as 'the father of the armed struggle for India's independence'.

He was moved by the plight of the farmer. He believed that 'Swaraj' was the only remedy for their ills.

With the help of Kolis, Bhils and Dhangars communities in Maharashtra, Vasudev formed a revolutionary group called as 'Ramoshi'. The group started an armed struggle to overthrow the British Raj.

The group started an armed struggle to overthrow the British Raj, launched raids on rich English businessmen to obtain funds for their liberation struggle.

Phadke came into limelight when he got control of the city of Pune for a few days in 1879 when he caught the British soldiers off guard during one of his surprise attacks.

He was later captured and sent to Andaman Jail.
