SAYYID AND LODI DYNASTY

THE LODI DYNASTY

BAHLUL LODI (1451 AD - 1489 AD)

- 1 The Lodhis were the last ruling family of the Sultanate period and the first to be headed by the Afghans who were ruling over Sirhind when the Sayyids were in India.
- 2 Founder of Lodi Dynasty – Bahlul Lodhi
- 3 Bahlul Lodi was the first Afghan ruler while his predecessors were all Turks.
- 4 Sultan Bahlul Lodhi was a capable General and was well aware of the fact that to establish his control over Sultanate, he would require help and support of Afghan nobles.

THE LODI DYNASTY

BAHLUL LODI (1451 - 1489)

- 5 The Afghan nobles wanted Sultan to treat them as equal partners rather than an absolute monarch. To please them, Bahlol publicly declared that he considered himself one of the Afghan peers and not the king.
- 6 He did not sit on the throne, nor did he insist on his nobles standing in his court. This policy worked well throughout his long reign and he did not face any trouble from his powerful Afghan nobles.
- 7 He successfully suppressed the revolts in Mewat and Doab.

SAYYID AND LODI DYNASTY

CAUSES OF DECLINE OF DELHI SULTANATE

- 1 Despotism and military type of government which did not have the confidence of the people.
- 2 Critical Failures of Delhi Sultans (esp. Muhammad-bin-Tughlaq failures, Incompetence of Firoz Tughlaq)
- 3 War of succession as there was no fixed law of it.
- 4 Greed and incompetency of nobles
- 5 Imprudent military organization (esp : Focus used to be either North West or Bengal and not both simultaneously)
- 6 Vastness of empire and poor means of communication
Eg.: Maximum revolts occurred in Bengal region, Deccan and southern parts of India, all being away from the capital
- 7 Financial instability (Poor Policies, Succession Wars, Poor auditing etc.)
- 8 Number of slaves increased to 1,80,000 in Firoz Tughlaq's time which was a burden on the treasury
- 9 Invasion of Timur- Destroyed the economy, administration and created deep unrest in society.
