ARAB INVASION AND GHAZNAVID

BACKGROUND (1000 AD -1200AD)

- 1 This period is called the Age of Conflict
- 2 This period saw:
 - Breakdown of the Tripartite Powers into many smaller kingdoms.
 - They were replaced with smaller kingdoms all over the country.

E.g.: Disintegration of Pratiharas saw rise of various Rajput states under various Rajput dynasties.
- 3 This period witnessed Rise of Turkish States and their march towards the North-Western border of India and in West Asia.

ARAB INVASION AND GHAZNAVID

BACKGROUND (1000 AD -1200AD)

4

These Turkish states were:

- Ruthless in their expansionist policies.
- Had a habitat of plundering the area whenever they attacked.
- Primarily used horses in war and had a unique method of warfare which was a combination of rapid advances and retreats with lightning raids.

5

In India

- Arrival of Turks and their advances/raids are getting overlooked as there was a power struggle occurring in North India.
- The smaller kingdoms weren't forming a united front against Turkish attacks.

ARAB INVASION

INTRODUCTION

- 1 Islam was born in Mecca (Saudi Arabia).
- 2 Its founder was the Prophet Muhammad.
- 3 His teachings made the wealthy (Pagan Arabs) in Mecca his enemies.
- 4 This made him to migrate to Medina in 622 AD (where they were welcomed by the local pagan and Jewish tribes), from where the Muslim era and Islamic calendar starts. 8 years later Muhammad returned to Mecca and died in 632 AD.
- 5 The followers of Muhammad established an empire called the CALIPHATE.

ARAB INVASION

INTRODUCTION

- 6 The Umayyads / Abbasids were the caliphs. They expanded their rule by conquests and spread Islam.
- 7 In 712 AD, Muhammad-bin-Qasim, the commander of the Umayyads, invaded Sind and killed Dahir, its ruler. He extended his conquest into Multan and organized the administration of Sind.
- 8 The people of Sind got the status of Zimmis (protected people).
- 9 There was no interference in the life and property of people there. After some time, Muhammad-bin-Qasim was recalled by the Caliph.

ARAB INVASION AND GHAZNAVID

ARAB INVASION

INTERFACE WITH INDIA

1 The Arabs could not expand further into India due to the presence of the powerful Pratihara Kingdom on the western edge of India.

- 2
- With the infusion of Sind into Arabia, a number of travellers started going to Sind and the diffusion of Indian knowledge started.
 - Medicine and Astronomy were subjects learned by the Arabs.
 - The Indian numerals in the Arabic form was taken by these travellers to Europe.

ARAB INVASION

INTERFACE WITH INDIA

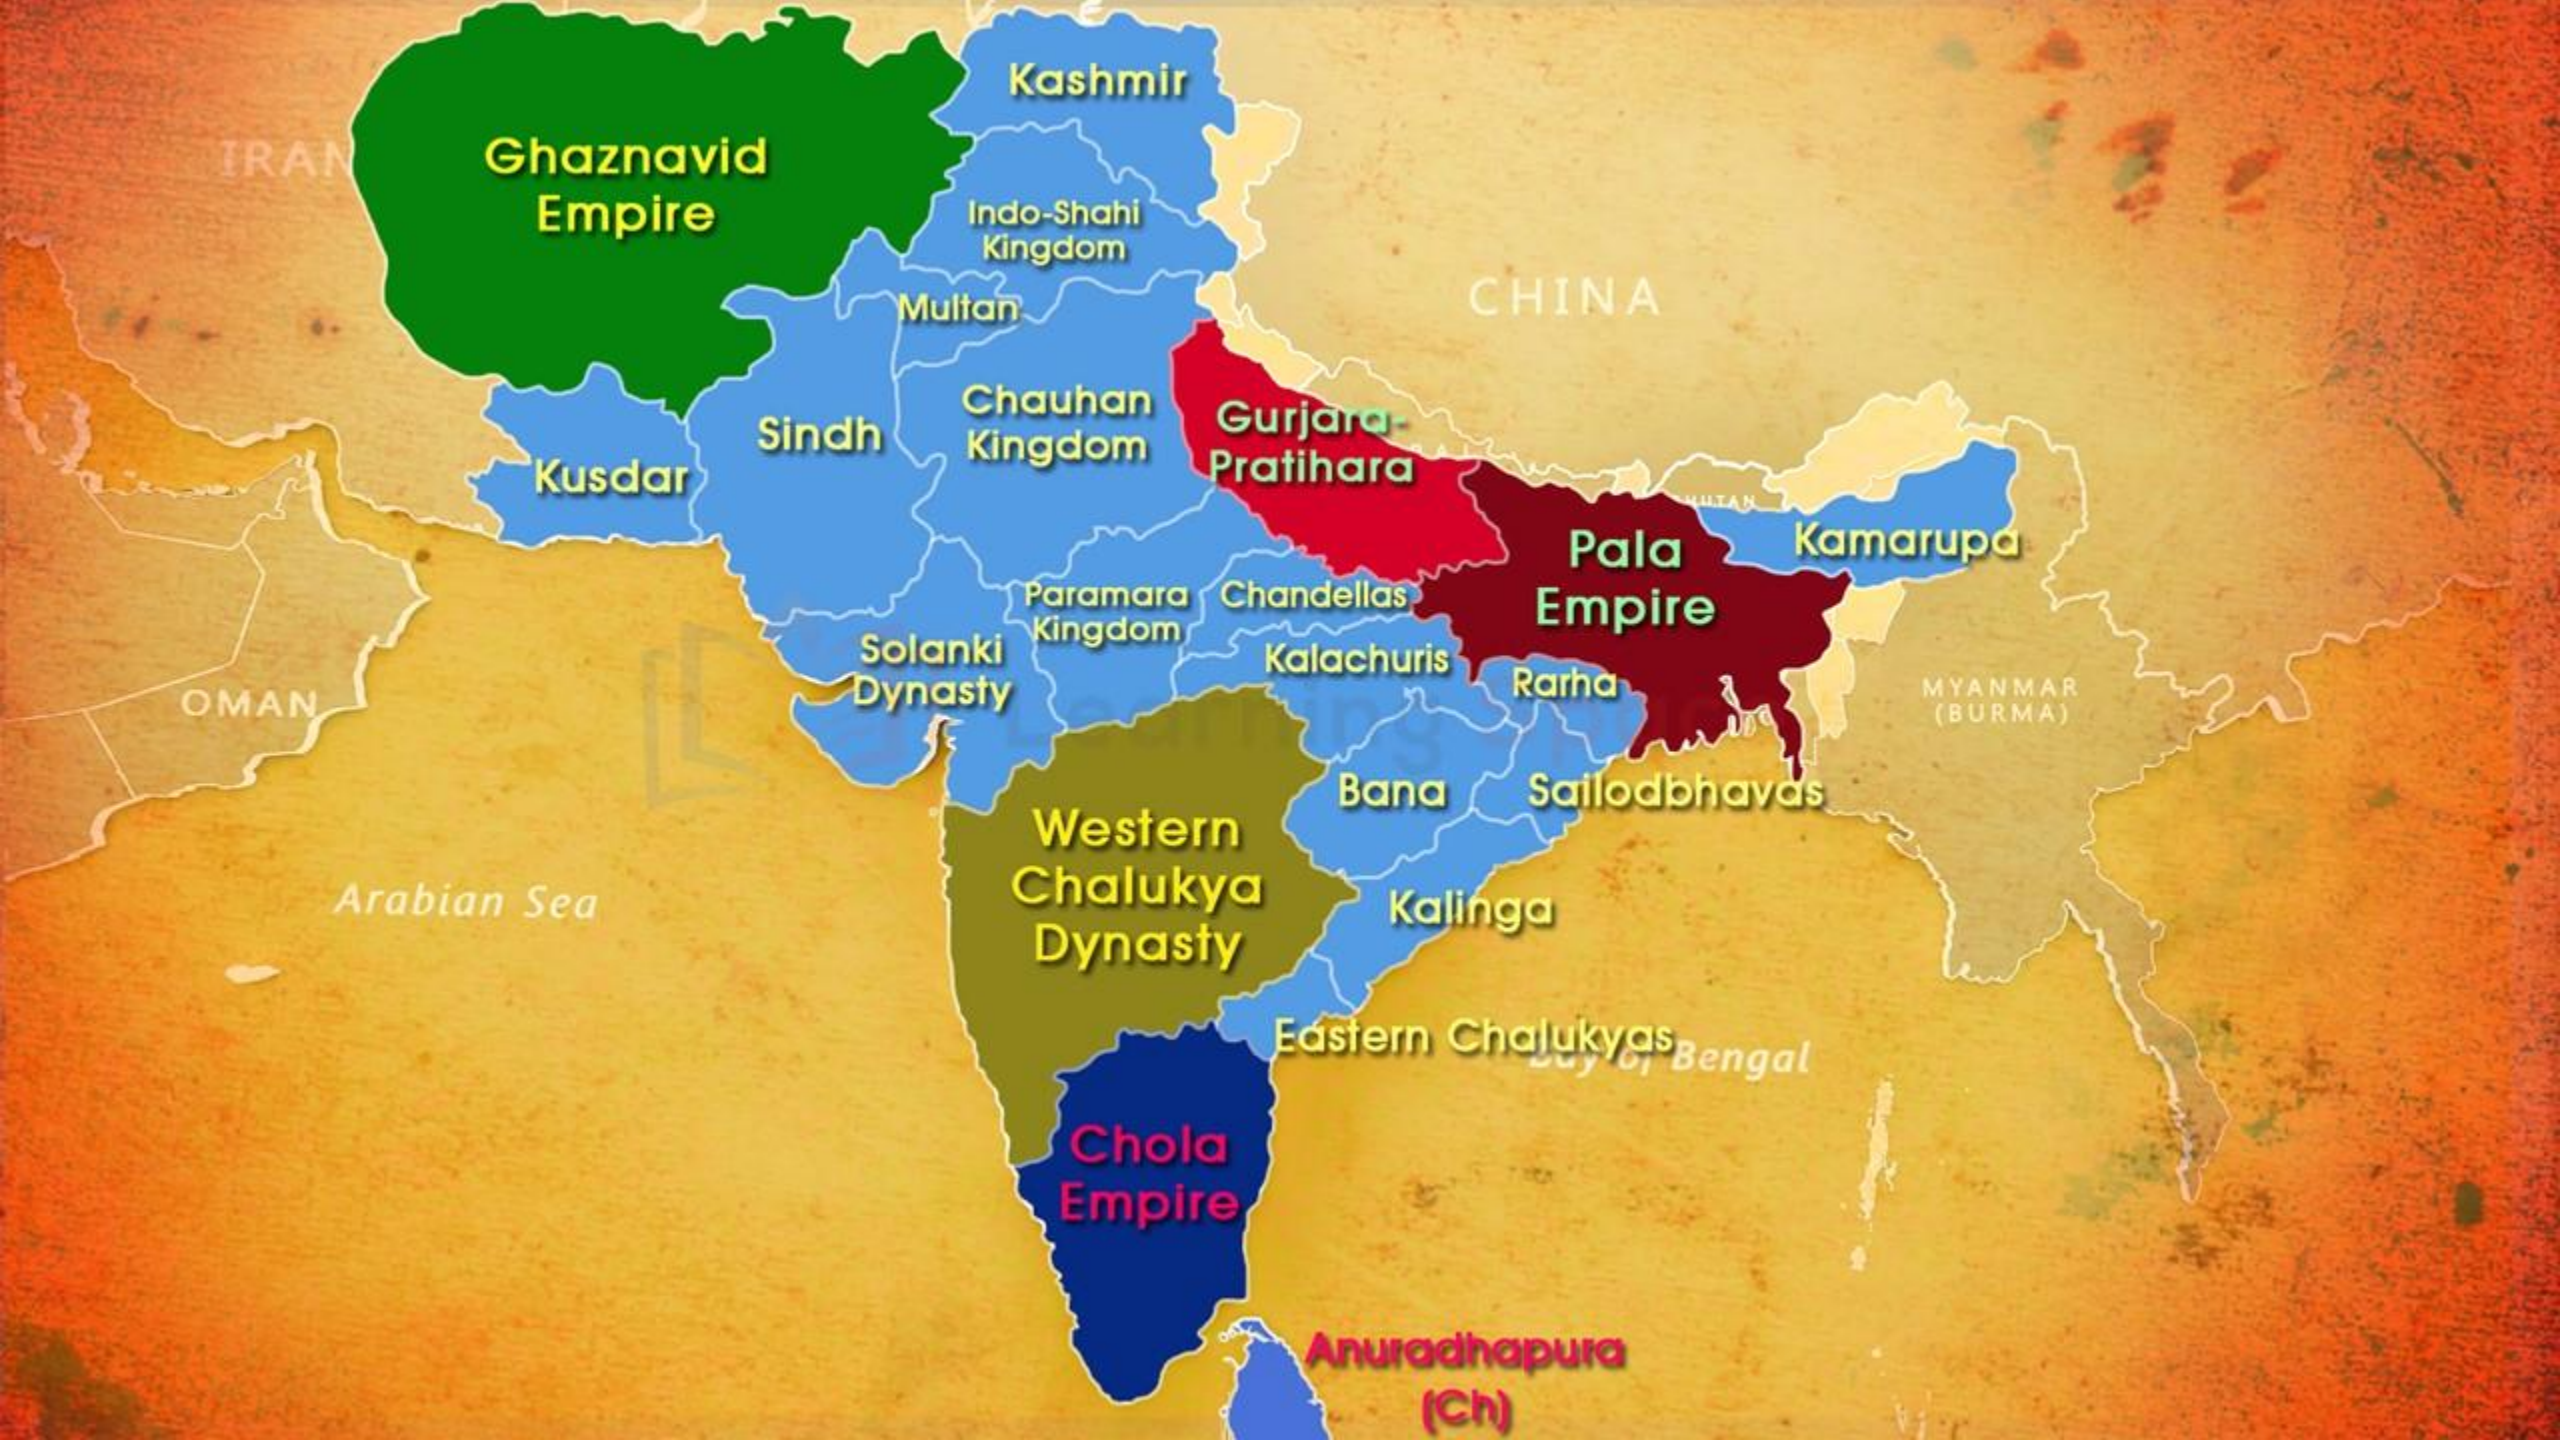

- 3 In the 9th Century AD, the Abbasid Caliphate declined and the Turkish governors established independent kingdoms and the Caliph became largely a ritual authority.
- 4 One of these governors was ALPTIGIN whose capital was Ghazni. His successor (son-in-law) was Sabuktigin and he wanted to conquer India from the North-West.
- 5 He conquered Peshawar by defeating Jayapala but his raids did not produce a lasting effect. Sabuktigin was succeeded by his son Mahmud.

MAHMUD OF GHAZNI

(997-1030 AD)

- 1 He was son of Sabuktigin (founder)
- 2 Mahmud of Ghazni is considered as a Great Islamic hero for his role in protecting and preserving Islam from the constant attacks of Central Asian Tribes.
- 3 He is said to have made 17 raids into India.
- 4 At the time of his incursion, the Hindu Shahi Kingdom was the frontier of India and extended from Punjab to Kabul.

OTHER RAIDS OF GHAZNI

1011

Mahmud raided Nagarkot in Punjab hills and Thaneswar near Delhi

1025

Mahmud raided Gujarat. He marched from Multan across Rajputana, defeated the Solanki king Bhimadeva I, plundered Anhilwad and sacked the famous Somanatha Temple.

Mahmud was considered as a Hero of Islam by medieval historians.

Mahmud thus extended his kingdom's might and influence, from the

- Caspian Sea to Punjab
- Samarkand (city in Uzbekistan) to Gujarat.

SOMNATH TEMPLE RAIDS

In 1025, Mahmud Of Ghazni, with his 30000 horses raided Somnath Temple.

SOMNATH TEMPLE

- Dedicated to Shiva.
 - Located at Kathiawar region, Saurashtra.
 - Renowned for its wealth and prestige.
- More than 50000 defenders lost their lives.
 - Mahmud broke the Shivalingam and had parts of it to be brought back to him to Ghazni.

ARAB INVASION AND GHAZNAVID

POINTS TO REMEMBER

- 1 Mahmud patronized Art and literature as well.

- 2 Firdausi was his poet and the author of Shah Nama.
- 3 Alberuni, from his court, wrote Kitab-i-Hind.
- 4 Mamhud changed the political situation of India by capturing Punjab and Multan. He paved the way for Turks and Afghans to make further incursions.
- 5 By defeating the frontier kingdom of Hindu Shahi, he made India defenceless.
- 6 He drained the resources and manpower of India through his constant raids, which made the future inroads easier.
- 7 Mahmud died in 1030 AD

ARAB INVASION AND GHAZNAVID

MUHAMMAD GHORI

- 1 Ghoris were vassals of Ghazni. They became independent after the death of Mahmud. Many historians assert that the actual founder of the Islamic Empire in India was Muhammad Ghori
- 2 After the death of Mahmud, Muizz-ud-din Muhammad (Muhammad Ghori) brought Ghazni under his control. After cementing his position, he set his sights on India.
- 3 Muhammad Ghori did not want to just raid like Mahmud. He wanted to conquer and extend his empire into India
- 4 Initial Attacks of Ghori
 - 1175 AD: He captured Multan and occupied the whole of Sind.
 - 1186 AD: He attacked Punjab and captured it from Khusru Malik.

BATTLES OF TARAIN (1191-1192)

1

The Hindu princes, citing the grave problems, made a confederacy under Chauhan king Prithviraj Chauhan.

Prithviraj defeated Muhammad Ghori in the 1st battle of Tarain in 1191.

BATTLES OF TARAIN

(1191-1192)

2 Muhammad Ghorī was humiliated by his defeat and started serious preparation. He gathered 1,20,000 men and marched on to Lahore.

3 Here he asked Prithviraj Chauhan to accept his supremacy and convert to a Muslim. Prithviraj, with a large army of himself, which had thousands of horses, elephants and a large number of foot soldiers, refused the demands of Ghorī.

4 In the 2nd battle of Tarain (1192), Prithviraj Chauhan was defeated by Muhammad Ghorī and killed later.

MUHAMMAD GHORI

POST 2nd BATTLE OF TARAIN

- 1 After the 2nd battle of Tarain, a Muslim kingdom was established in India.
- 2 Muhammad Ghori then left the conquered parts under his favourite general Qutb-ud-din Aibak.
- 3 Aibak occupied Meerut and Delhi.
- 4 In 1193, Aibak set the ground for another Muhammad Ghori invasion into India. This invasion was against the Gahadavala ruler, Jaichandra.
- 5 The Battle Of Chandawar was fought against Jaichandra. Here he was defeated by the forces of Aibak and Ghori, and Kannauj was captured.
