WHAT IS NATIONALISM?

Nationalism is a “cultural concept”. It’s an ideology that believes in “common identity”. It emphasizes that all the citizens inhabiting a land are part of one larger family.

SPIRIT OF NATIONALISM MANIFESTED WHEN

The citizens start sharing the pleasure of pain of each other.

Events taking place in one part of the country
start generating reactions in other parts.

Strong collective consciousness

Birth or emergence of nationalism started becoming visible in India during 1860's.

RISE OF MIDDLE CLASS INTELLIGENTSIA

- These class got disillusioned when they saw deindustrialization instead of industrialization and poverty instead of prosperity.
- They started noticing the planned manner in which British were bleeding the country of its valuable resources , enormous wealth and most importantly its self worth.

According to Percival Spear, "The new middle class was a well-integrated all-India class with varied background but a common foreground of knowledge, ideas and values.... It was a minority of Indian society, but a dynamic minority.... It had a sense of unity of purpose and of hope."

EMERGENCE OF NATIONALISM

HOW PAN-INDIA ORGANISATION CAME INTO EXISTENCE

Session was held in different parts of the country on rotational basis and President was to belong to the region other than where the congress session was being held. For example- W C Banerji, held his first session in Bombay though he was from Bengal. Second session held in Calcutta presided by Dada Bhai Naoroji though he was from Bombay Presidency.

THE FOUNDATION OF INC ON DECEMBER 28, 1885 WAS NOT A SUDDEN EVENT.

Bipin Chandra quoted "it is a culmination of process of political awakening that had its beginning in 1860s-70s and took a major leap forward in late 1870s.

Many attempts were made by nationalists to form a group of all-India scale.

One such organization was Indian Association which made initial efforts to form all India party.

A.O.Hume, a retired civil servant succeeded in forming an all India party with 72 delegates.

THE FIRST INDIAN NATIONAL CONGRESS, 1885.

Forming an all India party was not possible for A O Hume as a single person. It was the acceptance and efforts of politically conscious Indians which led to formation of INC.

Also English were of the view that such body is created by their own officials so there was less suspicion about functioning of INC.

Indian leaders accepted A O Hume as he was free of any regional or caste loyalties and had influence in official circles.

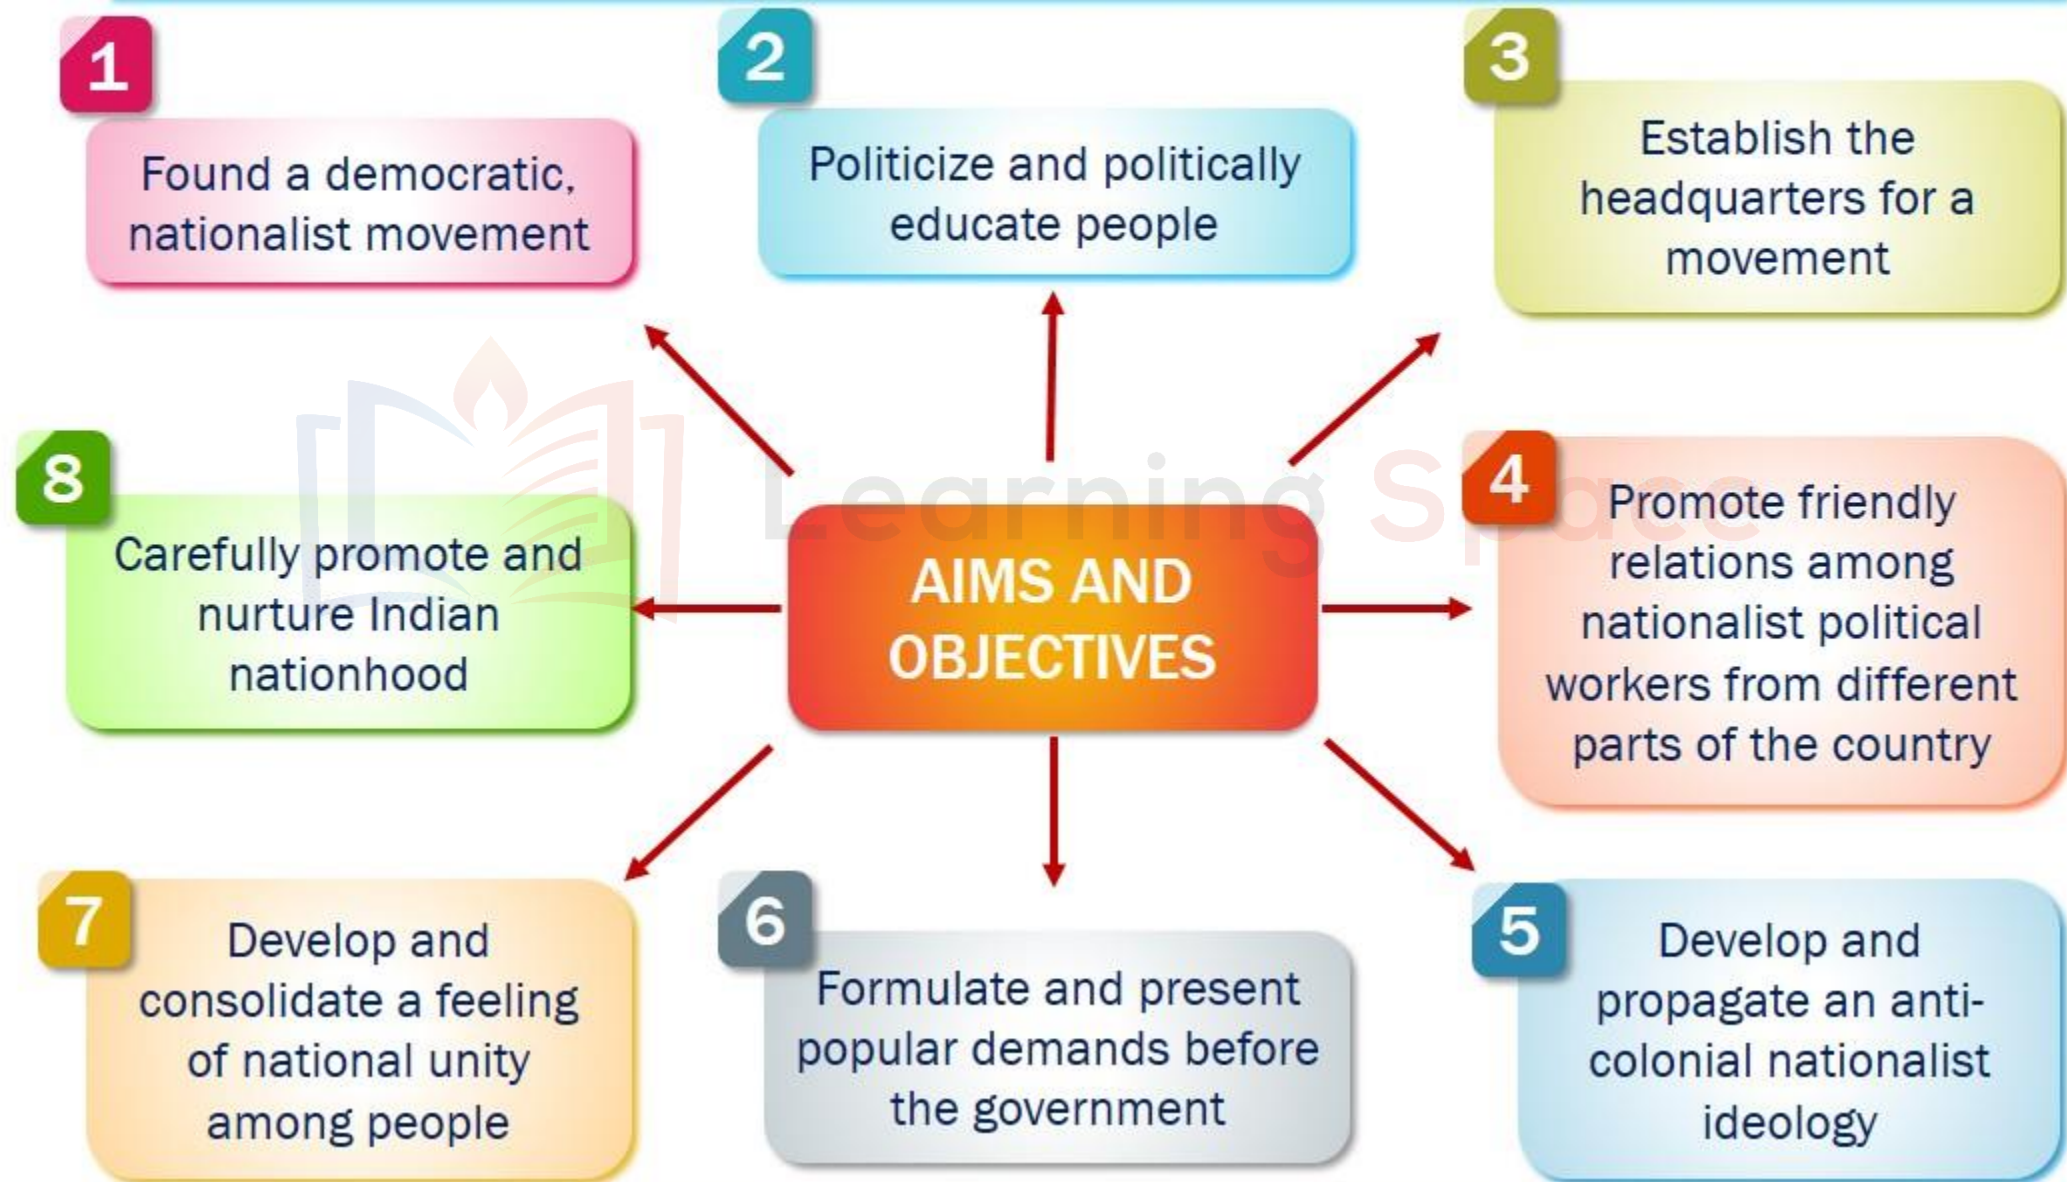

If Indians would have formed such a body on their own there would have been unsurmountable opposition from officials and Indian themselves.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF THE CONGRESS

Major objective of founders of INC was to make India a nation and to create “INDIAN” people. Thus growth of nationalist feeling and unity of India was one of the greatest objective.
